Bomber Crash Lists 11 Missing

BRUNSWICK, Maine (AP)—A Navy patrol bomber with 11 men aboard plunged into the Atlantic Ocean 300 miles off the Virginia coast Wednesday. The bodies of two crewmen were recovered; the rest were listed as missing.

The plane, a twin-engine Neptune PV2 from the Brunswick Naval Air Station, was on an anti-submarine training mission with the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain.

The last radio message came at 2:40 a.m., but the craft gave no indication that it was in trouble.

Ship Crash At Houston Kills 3

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A freighter and a tanker collided in the Houston Ship Channel Tuesday night with fatal, destructive results. The crash set off a dispute Wednesday between the captains.

The death list rose to three and authorities say more may have been killed.

Seven others, including a Port Houston pilot, David Duncan, were missing.

The two captains disagreed on how the ships collided near the midway point of the 50-mile channel that links Port Houston with the Gulf of Mexico.

ACF To Close Bernick Shops

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Car & Foundry Division said Wednesday it will close its railroad car building shops at Bernick, Pa., late in 1962.

A spokesman said the exact date of the closing would depend upon completion of the current work backlog. The shops have averaged 1,000 employees over the past four years.

The company said all railroad car building operations will be consolidated in plants at Milton, Pa., Huntingdon, W. Va. and St. Louis.

Ike Will Head Organization

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will head a new organization to foster people-to-people contacts between Americans and citizens of other countries. President Kennedy made the announcement Wednesday.

Kennedy told his news conference he was "delighted to announce that Gen. Eisenhower has agreed to serve as the first chairman of the board of trustees of a new People-to-People Organization."

Kennedy added he himself considers it "a great honor to be able to serve as honorary chairman."

African Nations Attack Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—African nations leveled a strong attack Wednesday on U.S. policy in Angola. They centered their fire on alleged use of U.S. arms by Portuguese troops against rebels in the big African territory.

Delegates from Liberia, Mali, Ghana and Guinea expressed dissatisfaction with a U.S. statement in the Assembly's Trusteeship Committee that the allegations were unwarranted.

Thomas Weeks, Liberia, said his country had expected the United States to express regret "that U.S. arms were being diverted to the massacre of the people of Angola."

President's Wife Postpones Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy has decided on a two-month postponement of her cultural trip to India and Pakistan. She now will go in January.

The White House, announcing the change Wednesday, said India's visiting Prime Minister Nehru had persuaded the First Lady "to make a more leisurely visit" and be on hand for celebration of India's Republic Day Jan. 26. Also, the White House said, the delay will permit a less hurried and more comprehensive trip to Pakistan as well.

Rayburn Listed As Very Weak

BONHAM, Tex. (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn, gravely ill with cancer, was very weak Wednesday, his physician said.

Dr. Joe A. Risser, attending the 79-year-old speaker in Bonham Hospital, issued this brief bulletin: "Mr. Sam has been very weak today. No respiratory difficulties. Very poor appetite. Basic problem the same."

Earlier, the doctor said Rayburn experienced some clogging of the respiratory passages but rested well during the night. He said the speaker remained alert.

Fires Continue To Ravage Stars' Homes In California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Firemen battled to keep control of two big and still-dangerous brush fires Wednesday and announced that the toll of homes destroyed—some of the city's finest—had reached 470.

The count was incomplete, and some homes that had escaped so far were still threatened. All but nine of the houses known to be destroyed were in the plush Bel-Air and Brentwood districts, the homes of million-

Monroe Granges Ask Yetter For Meeting With McSparran

AS THE result of a controversy aired at the recent convention of the Pennsylvania State Grange, three granges of Monroe County have sent an invitation to Representative Van D. Yetter requesting his attendance at a public meeting to debate the issue.

The communication, signed by Richard G. Seidof, master of Mineola Grange No. 1453 and spokesman for the group, is also sponsored by Harold L. Dennis, master of Cherry Valley Grange No. 182, and S. B. Howell, master of Pocono Grange No. 1415.

The text of the letter to Mr. Yetter follows: "Dear Assemblyman Yetter: 'On October 26th there appeared in the public press a statement in which you bitterly attacked the Master of the Pennsylvania State Grange, Mr. J. Collins McSparran, for his actions in the last session of the Legislature in opposing passage of H. B. 1259, which would have rewritten the present law under which the Highway Department acquires land.'

"On October 27th, after you had received a telegram from Mr. Howard Benning in which you were advised that the delegates attending the 89th annual session of the Pennsylvania State Grange had unanimously supported State Master McSparran in his stand against H.B. No. 1259, you repeated these charges in the Stroudsburg Daily Record. 'Since your charges have impugned the integrity, not only of our State Master but of the entire Grange organization, and since we believe your claims regarding H. B. 1259 have created some impressions that cannot be substantiated by fact, the granges of Monroe County plan to sponsor a public meeting to which we would invite you and State Master McSparran. In this meeting the facts can be placed squarely and openly before the public concerning H. B. 1259 and the work that the machine guns swooped over the legislative palace where tank-supported soldiers were holding Arosemena virtual prisoner. Minutes after the attack, radio stations and loudspeakers announced that army-backed Camilo Gallegos Toledo, Supreme Court chief and a political centerist, had dropped his claim to the presidency.

Army units had picked him to take over the job left vacant by the resignation of President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra. The Congress voted Arosemena into the job and the air force then backed up the decision with force against the army.

Force Ecuador To Accept Arosemena As President

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Ecuador's air force attacked Quito with jet fighters Wednesday and forced the army to accept the leftward-leaning vice president, Carlos Julio Arosemena, as president of the crisis-ridden nation.

Three jets firing rockets and machine guns swooped over the legislative palace where tank-supported soldiers were holding Arosemena virtual prisoner.

Minutes after the attack, radio stations and loudspeakers announced that army-backed Camilo Gallegos Toledo, Supreme Court chief and a political centerist, had dropped his claim to the presidency.

Army units had picked him to take over the job left vacant by the resignation of President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra. The Congress voted Arosemena into the job and the air force then backed up the decision with force against the army.

Three U.S.-made T33 jets with weapons blazing swooped over military installations and roared over the legislative palace. The palace was rocked by two blasts and residents of this capital city swarmed into the streets as explosions echoed off surrounding hills.

It was the first such air attack in Quito's history. No damage or casualties were reported.

The Topanga Canyon fire, which destroyed only nine homes but burned off thousands of acres of precious watershed, was 80 per cent contained. Along its southern front, where the fire line was not solid, it was about half a mile from the nearest homes in the seaside community of Pacific Palisades. None was in immediate peril.

There was no estimate when the Topanga fire might be fully contained.

The Bel-Air-Brentwood fire, which left such film stars as Zsa Zsa Gabor and Burt Lancaster homeless, covered 5,750 acres after breaking out near the crest of the Santa Monica range Monday morning.

The Topanga Canyon fire had covered 7,400 acres. There was no official damage estimate but one city fire official said: "Take $50,000 or $60,000 and multiply it by the number of homes destroyed, and I think the result would be a conservative estimate." Using the $50,000 figure, the result would be $18,750,000.

Planes have bombed the two disaster areas with 200,000 gallons of a fire-retarding chemical called borate. On the ground, firemen have used millions of gallons of water.

The two fires were one to two miles apart but there was no immediate danger of their joining. The cause of the fires was not known.

Plane Crash Kills Many G. I. Recruits

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—An Imperial Airlines Constellation with 78 persons aboard—nearly all of them Army recruits—crashed and burst into flames Wednesday night just south of Richmond. Apparently only two of those on the plane survived.

Ronald Conway, 29, of West Hollywood, Fla., captain of the aircraft and one of the survivors, said the men aboard the plane were recruits from Newark, N.J.; Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; and Baltimore, Md. The plane was carrying them south to Ft. Jackson, S.C.

Witnesses said the plane zoomed over Byrd Field just east of Richmond shortly before 9:30 p.m. at an altitude of about 700 to 800 feet and seemed to be trying for an emergency landing.

Then it flew off to the south and moments later seemingly on a landing approach, smashed down into a ravine about one mile southeast of the airport, exploding several times and bursting into flames.

Authorities at the scene said apparently no one aboard the plane survived except Capt. Conway and his flight engineer, W.F. Poythress, 30, of Miami.

The plane had last stopped at Baltimore, where it picked up 17 recruits. Its immediate destination was Columbia, S.C.

The crash occurred just off U.S. 60 outside Richmond's city limits.

Wind Gap Bypass Contract Given

HARRISBURG (AP)—A $3,398,689 contract for extending the Wind Gap bypass in Monroe County was awarded Wednesday by the state Highways Department. James D. Morrissey, Inc., Philadelphia, will build the 6.6 mile controlled access extension from the present Route 115 bypass to the intersection of U. S. 209 at Snyder'sville. Plans call for five bridges.

Adenauer Visit May Lead To Berlin Talks

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst
Despite the diplomatic standstill on the German issue for several weeks, the Kennedy administration still feels that the West must establish some sort of negotiating position.

While the Soviet hierarchy has been preoccupied with Communist affairs—the new domestic social program and the ideological conflict with Red China—the Western diplomats have been marking time waiting for a resolution of the West German political problem.

Now that Konrad Adenauer has been confirmed in office, Washington is hoping for an agreement with him on some points of negotiation—though by no means on points of appeasement—with the Soviet Union. If that can be accomplished, attention then can be turned to efforts by Britain, Germany and the United States to reach a working agreement with French President Charles de Gaulle.

There is a sense in Washington that the world position of the United States requires a constant demonstration of reasonableness and desire to reduce tensions.

In this thought Britain is a full partner.

De Gaulle feels that there is nothing to negotiate except Western retreat.

Exploratory talks begun between U.S. Secretary Dean Rusk and President Kennedy and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in the United States weeks ago were supposed to have been continued between Ambassador Lewellyn Thompson and Gromyko in Moscow. De Gaulle cancelled a high level London conference designed to work out some program for negotiations. The problem was left on the ineffective ambassadorial level in Washington, and Thompson found his portfolio empty of instructions. He has been keeping in touch with Gromyko, as have the British and French ambassadors in Moscow, but nobody has had anything much to say.

Britain and the United States would like to get a go ahead from West Germany and France on something to at least talk about.

Observers in Washington are beginning to sense a confusion in Rusk and Kennedy over the feeling of responsibility for keeping up negotiations—for working to avoid not only war but the evils of the constant worry about war, as against the determination to avoid appeasement and any weakening of rights of the Allies and myko, as have the British and French ambassadors in Moscow, but nobody has had anything much to say.

Britain and the United States would like to get a go ahead from West Germany and France on something to at least talk about.

Observers in Washington are beginning to sense a confusion in Rusk and Kennedy over the feeling of responsibility for keeping up negotiations—for working to avoid not only war but the evils of the constant worry about war, as against the determination to avoid appeasement and any weakening of rights of the Allies and of the German people in West Berlin.

Added to the confusion is the rather obvious conclusion that, insofar as Britain and France are concerned, they have never been completely happy over the resurgence of West Germany and her leadership in the European economic community which Britain is about to join. Nor are they truly devoted to German reunification.

This retreat from the 1955 Allied stand for reunification, and the growing discussion of de facto recognition of East German entity, will be among the chief Adenauer worries when he confers with Kennedy.

HAPPY IN VICTORY—Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Hughes smile in Trenton, N.J., after vote count trend indicated he had won the New Jersey governorship in a close race against James P. Mitchell. The victory by Hughes, a Democrat, boosted the political stock of President Kennedy. (AP Wirephoto)

O'Brien Wins Over Alpern; GOP Gains Ground In State

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Republicans, challenging Democratic strength in Pennsylvania for the first time since President Kennedy took the state last fall, won a Supreme Court berth, at least nine key mayoralty races and more than half the contested judgeships.

Even in Philadelphia, where Democratic candidates won, the opposition claimed moral victory. In scoring what were mostly upset triumphs in Tuesday's off-year election, the Republicans were especially jubilant about the setback dealt Rep. William J. Green Jr., Philadelphia Democratic chairman.

Green had predicted a Democratic sweep of at least 100,000 here. The margin of victory accorded the only two major Democratic candidates in Philadelphia—district attorney and city controller—was far off that figure.

Some leaders in both parties agreed that resentment against Green undoubtedly cut heavily into Democratic power, and some said that this, perhaps more than any other factor, contributed to the outcome of the Supreme Court race.

Anne X. Alpern, named a Justice in July, the first of her sex to serve on the high court, lost her bid as a Democrat for a full 21-year term to Judge Henry X. O'Brien, Republican, of Allegheny County.

The vote was 1,817,640 to 1,749,919, with 8,973 of the 9,123 precincts complete.

Despite the rebuff to Green, Justice Alpern ran well ahead of the two Philadelphia candidates, Dist. Atty. James Crumlish Jr., and Controller Alexander Hemphill. Her Philadelphia majority of 80,692 votes helped the entire local Democratic slate.

Crumlish, another recent appointee, was elected to a full term by just 47,534 votes out of a total of 616,672 ballots cast.

The turnout was slightly more than 61 per cent of the city's total registration of 996,550. Hemphill fared somewhat better, winning a second term by 54,335 votes.

The Republicans read happy auguries for 1962 in the results of the Tuesday election.

A new governor and a United States senator are to be chosen next year, and the GOP avowedly believes the favor shown it in the Supreme Court contest will be reasserted in the more important races, politically, in '62.

But the Democrats, smarting naturally, expressed no misgivings about the future. Said Otis B. Morse, state chairman:

"So we lost. Naturally, we are disappointed, but we are far from dead.

"We are still in there fighting, and we'll win the big one."

He meant the offices coming up next year.

Tells Press Conference We Will Maintain Great Strength

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said Wednesday that "we are going to ask for additional funds for defense next year," even though he considers the United States second to no other country in military power.

Quoting himself, Kennedy said that on the basis of present assessments and intelligence, "We, in my words, would not trade places with anyone in the world." But he said there will be a continuing review of U.S. capabilities and those of "our adversaries" and a request for more money for defense.

The administration already is stepping up defense spending by billions, and now estimates the total for the present fiscal year ending June 30 at $46.85 billion. Defense was one of the wide range of subjects covered in a presidential news conference.

Some of the other highlights of what the chief executive had to say:

—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has agreed to head a new, privately managed people-to-people program to "foster contacts between citizens of the United States and people of other lands in every way possible."

—It is, as Kennedy has said before, necessary for the United States to maintain its lead in nuclear weapons and this country still is making preparations to resume atmospheric tests if needed, to keep from being fooled again by the Soviet Union. Kennedy said the Russians prepared for new tests while dickered over a ban on tests.

—Democratic victories in key elections in Texas, New York City and New Jersey are "a source of satisfaction to us," and, Kennedy believes, an indication that the people think the candidates "are committed to progress."

The news conference declaration of intention to increase defense spending picked up something Kennedy had mentioned in a review of the budget on Oct. 29. But it was put into a somewhat different context by the way it came out.

The first question harked back to the 1960 political campaign and speeches in which Kennedy and others said this country's military strength had deteriorated in comparison with the Soviet Union's. Kennedy was told that he and Pentagon officials have spoken in recent weeks of "our measurable superiority to Russia in military strength."

So the question was, what has happened? Did Kennedy gain additional information later on or did he contend an improvement in military position resulted from the activities of his administration alone?

The President wound up by saying that what he had said before "represented the best of my information based on public statements made by those in a position to know in the late years of 1959's."

With reference to Soviet talk at the conference table while reading a series of monster explosions unleashed in the atmosphere since Sept. 1, he told newsmen:

"If they fooled us once, it is their fault," Kennedy said. "If they fool us twice, it is our fault."

On atmospheric testing, Kennedy said this country must balance the risks of radioactive fallout against its responsibilities to the free world.

Kennedy was asked at this, his 17th news conference in Washington, what had happened since last year during the campaign to cause him to say now that the United States possessed unparalleled strength.

He noted that a number of people outside his own official family had also said in the past that the United States was in danger of lagging behind Russia. He quoted former President Dwight D. Eisenhower as having said this country was "somewhat behind in the long range missile field."

Kennedy then ticked off a number of defense moves undertaken in his administration and said that "our judgment as of now" is that the United States need not trade places with anyone else in the world.

"We are going to ask for additional funds for defense next year," he said. At the same time he said the United States would maintain the closest check on its capabilities not only of itself but of its adversaries.

Pennsy-NYC Resolve To Merge Roads

NEW YORK (A)—The Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads resolved anew Wednesday to combine into the world's mightiest rail system.

The two giant carriers, both facing deficits for 1961, said their aim was financial retrenchment to ward off the threat of a slide into government ownership.

A previous effort to merge hit the rocks in January 1959, and the new try seemed destined to run into serious obstacles.

The agreement was announced jointly by James M. Symes, Pennsy chairman, and Alfred E. Perlman, president of the Central, following coordinated meetings of their respective boards in Philadelphia and New York.

They said competitive conditions had "worsened appreciably" since the earlier, ill-fated merger attempt was launched, and that "time is running out."

The 1958 studies pointed to possible savings of $100 million a year through increased efficiencies and elimination of extensive duplication in trackage, yards, terminals and other facilities.

The Symes-Perlman statement vowed formulation of a concrete proposal "as rapidly as possible," and to present it promptly to the Interstate Commerce Commission, federal rail regulatory agency.

Dear Abby

But He Baited The Hook!

Dear Abby: A gentleman friend with whom I have been keeping company invited me to go fishing with him. Perhaps I should explain that I am a widow in my forties and he is a bachelor in his middle fifties. I packed a nice picnic lunch for us and we drove about 70 miles to this little fishing village where he said the fishing was so good.

When we got there much to my amazement, he had forgotten the fishing equipment. What do you think he had in mind?

NO FISH

Dear No: He was angling for something—but it wasn't fish!

Dear Abby: I want your opinion, and the opinion of other mothers, on whether a five-year-old boy should learn to fight back. Our boy comes home crying almost every day with the story that one of his playmates "hit" him. My husband has told him that he must learn to "fight back." I say that he should walk away. I have gone to the mothers of his playmates and they tell me I am wrong, that little boys must learn to protect themselves. I have tried keeping my boy in his own yard, but he wants to play with the other boys. Yet he can't get along with them. Is there any solution to my problem?

MRS. A.

Dear Mrs. A.: This is not your problem. It's your son's. He will learn (if you let him) how to get along with boys his age. A normal child need not go through life "fighting back." When he comes home crying, make light of it and don't go to the parents of his playmates. All children learn through trial and error, and yours will, too.

Dear Abby: I am a qualified switchboard operator, but my husband refuses to let me work. Our children are 14 and 16 and are in school all day. I am bored with bridge and clubs and would like to get back into the business world. On the surface it appears that my husband is being "nice" to me but I am on to him. He doesn't want me to have any money of my own.

He is very tight with his money, and when he does give me a few dollars I have to account for every dime of it. I am sick of being controlled by him in this way. What do you think I ought to do?

WANTS TO WORK

Building Hits Record Level

NEW YORK (AP) — Building permit values in 200 leading cities reached a record level in September, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported.

A total of $927,487,470 was up 7.6 per cent from August and 30.3 per cent over a year earlier. The organization noted, however, that the increase over August was due to a 36.9 per cent gain in New York City permits, which contrasted with a 3.7 decline in other cities.

Looking over the figures of Tuesday's election and noting some of the "upsets" and variations in the balloting, it is evident that more and more people are voting for individual candidates locally than ever before.

Through the years, the blind system of voting strict party lines has been relegated to the limbo where it belongs by most of the informed electorate. This is good for the future of any community and bodes well for the overall civic health of our nation.

Through modern media of communication, the average John Doe in any community is better informed about individual candidates than his forefathers ever were. It is true, to be sure, that he bears a somewhat biased version of the qualifications of the candidates since the supporters give only the good points and the opposition only the bad.

However, the average American is a thinking person when he wants to be and he has learned to evaluate the political wheat from the chaff and come up with an opinion of his own. It is a healthy sign for the future of American ideals and principles.

There are winners and losers in every contest, whether it be an election, a sports event, a business venture, or otherwise. The sad part comes, sometimes, when the losers seek to cover the situation with vituperation or poor sportsmanship, rather than realizing that the people have spoken and in the tradition of America the voice of the majority becomes the voice of all.

It is rather a time for the losers to evaluate themselves as to why they lost, and to steadfastly pledge themselves to the support of the voice of the majority for the betterment of all.

In short, now that election is over it is the time for all of us to forget past differences and join forces for the commonwealth.

End Space 'Banditry'

It's good to see that Soviet concern about humanity and "international banditry" hasn't completely died away.

America's space program so offends the Red sense of decency that it merits a derogatory article in a Soviet technical newspaper. Our big crime is putting too many satellites into space, with the Discoverer program coming in for particular criticism.

Said the Red writer: "Littering the cosmos, not taking into account the needs of other countries, the United States, pursuing an intensive arms race, is setting up an elaborate system of cosmic military intelligence, communications and navigation. Actually, this is banditry on an international scale. . . . It should be dealt with as humanity has always dealt with this vice in all countries. Banditry should be outlawed."

It would be easy to refute the arguments in the article by pointing out our open space program compared to Red super-secrecy, which makes it impossible to really know what has been sent up, what has failed or what instrumentation has been and is being used. Or by stating that America has offered to share its space gains with the world community, as opposed to the Soviets.

But why bother? Actually, the Russian concern is a fine thing. This article and the Red protests some weeks ago about rocketing a curtain of copper needles about the earth are encouraging signs. Those needles apparently never made it, but the Reds were joined by other scientists in objecting to this sort of experiment.

If "banditry" in space so concerns the Russians, let's get together on that pact for limiting the uses of outer space to peaceful purposes. The Reds have ignored such agreement, not America. President Kennedy just called for a space pact again in his UN appearance this session.

Here is a new arena of endeavor with only two major practitioners at the moment—Russia and the U.S. Why not control space projects through the UN? The time for such agreement is now, before space indeed becomes needlessly cluttered or a new breakthrough drags the cold war "out of this world."

Western European nations have announced intentions of launching a satellite of their own within four years, using rockets from different countries as multi-stage boosters. Other applicants for admission to the space club are sure to come knocking at the door with each passing year.

If the Reds are at all sincere about wanting to halt "banditry" in space, the way to do it is patently clear. Or doesn't their concern extend as far as workable agreements, in space as well as on earth? —Harrisburg Patriot

Impudence Monopoly

I am old enough to remember when Americans were polite. The girl at the other end of the telephone was a polite person, with a soft and gentle voice; the messenger who delivered the Western Union telegram was a polite boy, who wore a uniform and was pleased to receive a tip. Men, when spoken to by ladies, took their hats off. And so it went.

This form of gentility has gone out of American life, although it continues to exist elsewhere. A Western Union messenger no longer wears a uniform and is not likely to be a fast moving boy but is probably a man from an old man to an old woman, who delivers the message at a snail's pace.

Or the message might be telephoned in, which is not what the sender paid for. In fact, a cable from Italy received by American Cables was telephoned to me and then came in the mail two days later. If sender had used air mail it would not have been slower and it would have cost less.

Try to complain about poor service to a public utility and you might get a fresh voice at the other end who does not understand that he is paid to perform a service and that it is good public relations to be polite. In fact, the more impudent the response, the more usual is the occasion.

What has done this to our people? When I was a boy, I used to deliver flowers and in those days a dime tip was standard. A sport gave a quarter. But we acted very genteelly, dime or a quarter, and if anyone got fresh, he was shown the door and was never admitted again. Later, when I went to high school, I got a job as a hat-check boy.

I worked in two fashionable restaurants. We got a dime even from millionaires but we were not permitted to keep the money. Our uniforms had no pockets and the concessionaire soon discovered who swiped dimes. As a matter of fact, we often found a way to keep a tip for ourselves, particularly if some fellow wanted to show off as a big spender.

We had to be polite or we were fired. It was a good after-school job, usually running from 7 p.m. until midnight for the youngsters. I had to earn my way through high school and college, to get a little extra money.

There was no union to protect impoliteness. There was no class-consciousness. A job was a job and one was thankful to have one. That is how people got well-off by holding a job and saving money.

These days, the incompetent, the fresh, the impolite cannot be fired because tenure is protected by unions and money has lost its value and because other people's taxes pay for unemployment as well as for incompetence and inefficiency. Furthermore unions protect the incompetent and inefficient in tenure so that the public suffers from the combination of labor leaders and politicians.

The milk strike in New York City, one of the most horrible disturbances of public peace in our time, is an example of the abuse of the public's rights by this combination of labor leaders and politicians. This is a perfect symbol of the public be damned attitude, of babies and the sick being killed by an unwillingness of politicians to meet an embarrassing situation courageously. And the surprising fact is that the public takes impudence without protest.

Just before Election Day, the municipal authorities in New York awoke to the peril to the public, but why did it take so long?

This is an essay which asks the question why the public permits itself to suffer. Why do we accept impudence? We are told that it is characteristic of the times; that times have changed. But it has only changed to the extent that the public accepts without striking back. Impudence and impertinence. Let me return to the matter of telegrams: they should be delivered and signed for. That is part of the transaction. When they are telephoned, there is no record of delivery and acceptance.

When they are put under the door or left in a hallway to be picked up, delivery is not established. The sender has a complaint. He should exhibit anger. The public has as many rights as the employee or the management. When a service has been reduced, the public should complain and complain hard.

A Big Gavel To Pick Up!

The Pennsylvania Story

More On School Redistricting

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg—It depends on how you look at it! For aught ago the Pennsylvania School Directors Association went on record at its annual meeting here calling for repeal of the so-called "school reorganization law" enacted by the 1961 Legislature at the vibrant behest and urgings of the Lawrence Administration.

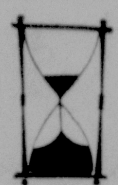

(The Pennsylvania State Grange has called for similar action.)

At the time the school directors passed their resolution opposing the legislation, less than 400 of the 11,000 members were on hand to act on the resolution.

Here is the interesting part: Proponents of the school reorganization law (which would set up school districts throughout the state on a 400-pupil minimum) were quick to insist following the action of the school directors association that it did not represent the feeling of the organization at all—that it represented only a minority.

Nevertheless—and this is the critical point—the action by the PSDA does become the "official" action of that body. Keep this point in mind. Shortly following the school directors action, an official of the Department of Public Instruction in talking with this reporter pooh-poohed the PSDA action with the comment:

Mirror of Time

—by J. D. Shafer

10 Years Ago

Citizens of Jackson Township met for the first time to discuss the organization of a fire company in the township.

Meter revenue in Stroudsburg was $2,583.75 for October. This compared to $2,301.50 for the same month a year ago, October 1950.

Approximately 88 per cent of the registered voters in Monroe County went to the polls in the 1951 election.

New York City longshoremen ended their 26-day-old strike.

20 Years Ago

Mrs. Nina Young, East Stroudsburg, was in the Monroe County General Hospital with lacerations of the face. She suffered the cuts in an accident at home.

Eddie King was in the Rosenkrans Hospital with a fractured leg. He had been struck by a passing car as he crossed S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

The new carbine was issued to the armed forces of the United States.

The Paradise Home and School Association voted to serve hot lunches in the Paradise Township School.

"Why shaw, that was only a piddling part of the association that took the action—a strictly minority group; it doesn't reflect the feeling of the school directors at all."

Last week Governor Lawrence was asked at his press conference by a reporter whether he felt the action by the school directors organization would "have any force, any weight on the Legislature in 1963?"

This was Mr. Lawrence's reply: "I don't know. Of course this was only a very small percentage of the school directors' association. I understand it was only a couple hundred out of a total of 11,000 or 12,000 members. . . . A great many of those who were here had gone home."

It is very true that a "minority" or as the Governor put it "only a very small percentage," put the association on record as favoring repeal of the legislation—but regardless of this fact, the action is still the official action of the organization!

Mr. Lawrence brings up the "very small percentage" angle, obviously as though that for some reason mitigates the association's action and makes it questionable. Has he forgotten that he himself was elected to office by this "very small percentage" of which he speaks in a questioning voice—that less than 35 per cent of the population of Pennsylvania voted in the election that "put him across?" (He's still "official," isn't he?)

But perhaps the whole thing was best summed up the other day by a staunch group of 28 Mercer County school directors who penned a letter to The Sharon Herald—complete with each and every name attached thereto—which said in part:

"Much has been said of the fact that 300 directors determined the policy of an organization of 11,000 members. There were more than 1000 of these members registered at the convention (PSDA). There was no secret about what was planned. An open meeting on Friday morning drafted the resolution and mapped the strategy. . . . nobody who was there could doubt the group's determination. . . . they knew what was going to happen."

"Anyone who wanted could have stayed over to fight the action on Saturday morning. Therefore we have to conclude that those who did go home concurred in the action."

The "official record" stands. In this case it does NOT depend at all on how you look at it!

Try and Stop Me

"So your daughter is marrying a doctor," nodded the friend of a man whose female offspring was widely known as the ugliest and meanest wench in the community. "Congratulations!"

"Well, I didn't exactly say he was a doctor," hedged the happy father. "I simply told you he was relieving me of a terrible pain in the neck!"

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

It was surprising to say the least that Syracuse University's football brass let in a newsman prior to a game. Especially one the importance of the University of Pittsburgh class.

But yours truly had no trouble at all getting into the Orange's dressing room and coaches' quarters before their duel with the Panthers.

It seems they were waiting for someone to crack the quietness of the rooms below ancient Archbold Stadium. And it also seems they wanted to be on the receiving end of questions about former Stroud Union grid star, Bill Schoonover.

None of the tutors or players were hesitant in building up the 6-foot, 205-pound Schoonover, who has been sidelined with a hand fracture for three weeks.

Usually before a so-called "big" contest, coaches and players wish to be more or less alone. Naturally, they don't relish probing reporters before the kickoff. But none of this, "what the heck is he doing here?" prevailed as we made our way through bandages, tapes, and the smell of wintergreen and rubbing alcohol.

To be candid, the red carpet was out for The Daily Record.

"Colgate, South Bend (Notre Dame) Boston (Boston College) that's our next three stops."

These were the words of Boyd (senior) and Ruth Weiss as they laid plans to see the remaining games of the Syracuse team.

Boyd and Ruth, owners of the American House, Stroudsburg, join weekly Bill's father, Bill Sr., and his wife, Martha, and several other fans from the Stroudsburgs at Syracuse games.

But Boyd has a hankering to see them all. In fact, he is probing the idea of hitting all parts of the country in 1962. For example, he is contemplating trips to Oklahoma and California to see the Orange tangle with the Sooners and UCLA respectively. In between, Boyd and Ruth will take in Army, Boston College, Navy, Pittsburgh, George Washington, Holy Cross, West Virginia, and Penn State.

Anyone for a Boyd Weiss tour of the nation?

The Allen-Scott Report

Truman White House Visit Interesting

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — President Kennedy did more than handsomely entertain former President Truman in his first-time-in-eight-years stay at the White House.

They also discussed at length a unique goodwill tour. Under this backstage plan, Truman would visit Greece and Turkey where he is profoundly esteemed for the special military and economic aid programs he initiated for these two countries in 1947.

The governments of both countries are very eager to have him come, and Kennedy urged him to do so. Truman expressed his willingness.

"I'll do anything you think will help our country and the fight against Communist imperialism," he said. "I would like very much to go to Greece and Turkey, especially if it will be of service to them and to us."

No dates or other details were discussed. Truman left the planning to the President. But he did make one characteristic suggestion.

"Don't schedule this trip for next fall," Truman said with a smile. "I expect to do quite a bit of traveling then, but it will be entirely here at home. I'm planning to be out on the hustings campaigning for Democratic congressional candidates wherever they want me. I'm spreading the word that I'll be available anywhere and anytime."

On May 15, 1947, Congress approved the "Truman Doctrine." Winning Ways—Mrs. Kennedy scored a tremendous hit with the Trumans.

"That goes for me, too," laughed the President. "I'm going to take a very active part in that campaign from start to finish; Labor Day right down to the voting."

The so-called "Truman Doctrine" was personally submitted by Truman to a joint session of Congress on March 12, 1947. He asked for $400 million to enable Greece and Turkey to resist Communist aggression — $300 million for Greece to combat widespread guerrilla warfare; $100 million for Turkey to modernize its Soviet-threatened military forces.

Also sought was authority to send U.S. military and civilian personnel to assist the two countries to counter the internal and external Red menace confronting them.

"If Greece should fall under the control of an armed minority," Truman told Congress, "the effect upon its neighbor, Turkey, would be immediate and serious. . . . It would be an unspeakable tragedy if these two countries, which have struggled so long against overwhelming odds, should lose the victory for which they have sacrificed so much."

"Should we fail to aid Greece and Turkey in this fateful hour, the effect would be far-reaching to the West as well as to the East. We must take prompt and resolute action."

On May 15, 1947, Congress approved the "Truman Doctrine." Winning Ways—Mrs. Kennedy scored a tremendous hit with the Trumans.

Mrs. Truman was captivated by the changes in the White House. She was enthusiastic about the antiques Mrs. Kennedy has installed, and particularly praised the "homelike atmosphere" she has imparted to the executive mansion.

"You've managed to do what I never was able to," said Mrs. Truman admiringly. "You've given this place a homelike feeling. I don't know how you've done it because it's basically the same as it was. At the same time, there is an air and atmosphere of hominess that is very distinctive and a great tribute to you."

Truman was equally complimentary.

During the dinner, in an exchange of toasts with the President, Truman forgot his. He got to reminiscing about his and Mrs. Truman's seven years in the White House, and finally sat down without giving a toast. Former protocol chief Stanley Woodward jocularly called his attention to the oversight.

Jumping to his feet Truman, somewhat flustered, said "To the President of the United States. One of the best we've ever had."

Later, chatting with Mrs. Kennedy, Truman apologized for his gaff.

"But your timing was perfect," the First Lady assured him. "You couldn't have done it better. Your toast really stood out that way. You made us all feel very happy and very proud, Mr. President, and I can't begin to tell you how grateful we are."

Truman beamed like a smitten swain.

Mrs. Kennedy made a hit with the other guests with an after-dinner innovation.

Instead of the traditional White House custom of the men remaining at the table for coffee, cigars and stories, and the women going elsewhere for coffee and chat-chat by themselves, Mrs. Kennedy had everyone served coffee in the Red Room. She and the President circulated among their guests talking with all of them.

Politics—Former Vice President Nixon is stepping up his campaign plans for California's Republican gubernatorial nomination early in January in friends he will start active campaigning early in January instead of a month or so later, as originally contemplated. Nixon is saying he faces a tougher primary than he had anticipated. . . . Another prominent 1962 candidate is also losing no time in hitting the campaign trail. Senator J. William Fulbright, D. Ark., chairman of the influential Foreign Relations Committee, who hasn't had opposition since 1944, is taking no chances this time. He is already touring the Arkansas hustings as a candidate for re-election—a year before the balloting. Reason for Fulbright's concern is the possibility he may be challenged by Governor Orval Faubus. So far he has given no hint what he will do, but Fulbright isn't waiting for Faubus to make up his mind.

A private Republican poll shows former President Eisenhower as the only GOPer who can beat Senator Joseph Clark, D. Pa., who comes up from election next year. State Republican leaders are using these figures to reinforce their efforts to persuade Eisenhower to run. So far he has been cool to their pleas, but they're not giving up hope. . . . Senator Vance Hartke, Ind., chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee, is making a hit with constituents with a new campaign "gimmick." When Indianapolis visit him in Washington, he has himself photographed with them with one of those "instant" cameras and then gives them the autographed snapshot. Hartke's idea is going over so big that other senators are adopting it. It probably won't be long before members of the House will be doing the same thing.

Breakdown Of Votes In Local Boroughs

E. Stroudsburg

REPUBLICAN Thomas L. Kistler, mayor-elect of East Stroudsburg captured five of the six wards to win the office over his Democratic opponent, Oden F. Libbey.

Kistler missed winning the other ward by four votes.

The unofficial tally of the wards showed Kistler had 275 votes in the First; 235 in second; 141 in Third; 174 in Fourth; 184 in Fifth and 211 in the Sixth. Libbey polled the six wards in this order: 147, 173, 144, 150, 152 and 198.

The totals showed Kistler with 1220 to Libbey's 964.

For East Stroudsburg school director, Irving Sommer — running on both tickets — had 1011 votes on the Democratic ballot and 873 on the Republican side. Others in the race were Clyde M. Schaller (D) with 1083 votes and Republican Milton Walton with 899.

Sommer's Democratic breakdown in the wards were 175 in First, 188, 149, 150, 159 and 190. On the Republican side he compiled in each ward: 194, 177, 93, 126, 129, 144.

Schaller had individual ward results of 186 in First; 189, 150, 157, 182 and 219.

Walton had for the first six wards totals of 202, 185, 92, 145, 123, and 152.

Two Selected

For the office of Justice of the Peace, these were the results. Two were selected.

Angelo J. Dellaria (D) 198 in First; 186, 140, 139, 151, and 152 for a total of 666.

Stroudsburg

MAYOR-elect Joseph Small captured three of the five wards in Stroudsburg as the Republican political novice defeated veteran Democrat Hal H. Harris for Mayor on Tuesday.

Harris had served as mayor of Stroudsburg for 24 years.

Small's win also pushed the Democrats from the post after more than 30 years of domination. A breakdown of the wards in Stroudsburg showed Small won in Second Ward, 319 to 210; Fourth Ward, 206 to 187; and the Fifth Ward, 376 to 165. Harris won in his own Third Ward by 13 votes—229 to 216 and in the First, 191 to 108.

The unofficial final total was 1225 for Small and 982 for Harris.

School Director

Republican John Baymor collected unofficial totals of 58, 281, 197, '86 and 312 for a total of 1034 to win the school director post from Democrat Robert W. Phillips. In the five wards, Phillips had 186, 193, 160, 209 and 179 for a total of 927. Baymor captured the Second, Third and Fifth Wards.

In the vote for Justice of the Peace, John C. F. Foelker defeated Republican Beverly Slutter Scheller by unofficial count of 1191 to 883. Foelker captured all the wards. His total from each ran, 196 to 71 in First; 281 to 237 in Second; 189 to 179 in Third; 263 to 155 in Fourth, and 282 to 241 in Fifth.

For borough auditor, Republican John E. Watt received unofficial count of 1004 to defeat Democrat Clarence Marsh who had 969 votes.

The breakdown for first five wards had Watt 58, 263, 184, 177 and 322. For Marsh it was 192, 198, 222, 182, and 175.

PV School Water System Termed 'Odd'

BRODHEADSVILLE — John Mills, superintendent of the Pleasant Valley Joint Schools, reported to the joint school committee at its meeting last night that the water situation in the school is "most odd."

Water samples have been taken by state inspectors and on several occasions the water has been contaminated, never seriously.

Mills said, "What the inspectors cannot figure out is why they should get a reading of contamination at a drinking fountain and not at another water tap as the water comes from a common well and from a common storage tank."

"With the water coming from the same well and being stored in the same tank, state inspectors are baffled at the cause," he continued.

A sampling was taken yesterday and if the situation has not cleared up, the tank and well will be tested and possibly the water lines disconnected and high pressure air will be used to blow them out, after which they will be connected and samples taken again.

In other business, the board granted working papers to one applicant.

Bangor Plans To Renovate Old School

BANGOR—The Bangor Area Joint School Committee last night took the first step toward formulating plans to renovate the old high school building into a junior high.

The board hired H. F. Everett Associates, Allentown architects, to draw plans for remodeling of the old building. It was announced no specific time for the work has been established, but efforts will be made to commence the project within the next six months.

In other action, the board made plans to establish a summer renovation program of repainting eight classrooms, resurfacing blackboards, replacing lighting systems and replacing shades.

The work will be done under the direction of the school administrators and the chief of the custodial staff.

The board also instructed the property committee to proceed with plans to investigate what renovations are necessary in the heating system of the Columbus and Washington Township Schools.

The board approved plans to institute an adult education program of a variety of classes to be determined by the number of persons signing up for each.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Virginia Denning as teacher in the Columbus School, effective Nov. 22. The board granted permission to Pen Argyl Area Joint School System to rent the portable bleachers owned by the Bangor system for the Thanksgiving Day football game between Bangor and Pen Argyl at Pen Argyl. The fee will be $100.

Donald B. Keat, superintendent, told the board the Army Corps of Engineers will make a survey of all public buildings in the Bangor area within the next month for the purpose of establishing fallout shelters. The board authorized the purchase of school equipment available under the National Defense Education Act.

Educational Field Scholars Sought As Peace Corps Aides

AT LEAST 60 per cent of requests for volunteer help that come to the U. S. Peace Corps from emerging countries are for help in the education field, students at the East Stroudsburg State College were told yesterday by Peace Corps Information Officer, Richard Thomas.

Thomas, who is on leave of absence from his position as Methodist Chaplain at Princeton University, spent the day at ESSC speaking to history classes, addressing The World Outlook Club, a student organization, and conducting a question and answer session before the college faculty meeting in the evening. He also spoke to several people from the Stroudsburg area who are interested in getting data on the work of the Corps.

Requests for the services of Peace Corps men and women volunteers are now received from 44 "emerging" countries, according to Thomas.

"The Corps has 150 types of skills to offer. These fall into three groups — education, agriculture and construction or industrial skills," Thomas stated.

Most of the requests are in the education category. This may be, specifically, to teach English as a second language, to introduce science in the elementary curriculum, or to deal with disciplines in the social studies field.

In agriculture most of the requests are for Corps members who can analyze soil or who can establish youth clubs, such as the American 4-H Clubs.

Under the unit of construction or industrial skills there may be need for instructors of elementary carpentry or for people qualified to survey road construction.

Objectives Of Peace Corps

In addition to supplying people with special skills, the Corps has as its object to "present a new window through which America and Americans can be seen by the emerging countries."

This means, Thomas pointed out, "... that young people who want to live in the country, with the country's citizens, to learn their languages and customs, are the people who should be sent."

Perhaps, as was suggested by a student member of Thomas's audience at one point, this affirmative, outgoing attitude on the part of Peace Corps personnel will be able to combat the picture of "the Ugly American we have been reading so much about."

The final objective of the Corps is to have the personnel return to their hometowns, after their service is over, and interpret the country they visited to Americans.

"In other words, we are interpreted to the inhabitants of the emerging countries we visit and help, and then, finally, they are interpreted to us... and by the same Corps member."

Goal of 5000

At present there are 400 young men and women serving overseas in the U.S. Peace Corps. There are 400 more in training and Thomas says, 5000 will be added this summer.

"We want people of medium skills," Thomas stated. "Most of these countries have seen only two types of Americans so far — the highly trained technical specialist, and the tourist. But we want men and women who have medium, or middle of the road abilities, who are typical of their group at home. In other words, they do not have to have more highly developed skills to teach English abroad than to teach it at home, for this program."

"Of course, the young people we send must be well balanced and emotionally stable. Above all, they must be dedicated. They must believe in the Peace Corps and its importance to the world at this very moment."

Thomas was invited to ESSC by Professor Carl M. Diefenbach, and by Eugene Slaski, a junior, who had met him when he attended a peace corps regional meeting in Philadelphia recently, as a representative of ESSC's World Outlook Club.

Program, Parade Plans Set For Vets Day (Nov. 11)

THE PARADE route and program for Veterans Day (Nov. 11) was announced last night by Herman R. Smeltz, chairman.

The morning program will have officers of various veterans organizations in the area placing a wreath on the Dough Boy, Court-house Square, Stroudsburg, at 11 a.m. and participating in ceremonies at 11:30 a.m. at the Legion Memorial, Washington St., East Stroudsburg.

The parade route set up is: From the Monroe County

YMCA, Stroudsburg, down Main Street across the twin borough bridge, up Brown St. to Crystal Street. From here to N. Courtland St. to West Broad St. when the marchers will make a left turn. It will then proceed down Elizabeth St. to East Stroudsburg Memorial Stadium.

All units of the parade will form at the YMCA at 6:15 p.m. and the parade will move out promptly at 7 p.m.

Units in the parade will be the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, East Stroudsburg; Company A 1st Battle Group, East Stroudsburg; 40 et 8, East Stroudsburg; George N. Kemp Post 346 Auxiliary, East Stroudsburg; East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School Band, East Stroudsburg; and the Girl Scouts.

Also VFW Drum and Bugle Corps, Stroudsburg; Company M, U. S. Army Reserve, Stroudsburg; 28th Division, Stroudsburg; Thomas P. Lambert Post 2540 Auxiliary, Stroudsburg; Stroud Union High School Band, Stroudsburg; Shirlettes and Boy Scouts.

The parade will wind up at the Stadium where a midget football game will be played. During the halftime, the VFW and American Legion drum corps will perform for approximately 15 minutes.

Both Candidates Were Elected

IN THE REPORT of the countywide vote in Monroe in yesterday's issue it was stated that Leon F. Keller, Democrat, had defeated Forrest L. Graves for the office of Jury Commissioner. This was not true.

Actually, there was no opposition since both parties must be represented in this office.

William Barden Rites Conducted

FUNERAL services for William E. Barden, 69, Canadensis, were held yesterday in the William H. Clark Funeral Home with burial in Moravian Cemetery, Canadensis.

Both of the candidates named on the ballot were elected to the post.

Pallbearers were Milton Carlton, Elmer Daniels, Fred Huguennin, Arthur McCambridge, Raymond Price, Sr., and Wayne Price.

$9,000 Goal Set For Area Dystrophy Drive

A $9,000 goal has been set for the 1961 march on muscular dystrophy by the Carbon-Monroe-Schuylkill County Chapter, MDAA.

The executive committee, meeting at chapter headquarters in Lehigh, indicated that the figure is an all-time high in its four-year history.

"Expansion to all of Schuylkill County justifies the higher goal," explain Fred (Ward) Switzer of Lehigh, chapter president who pointed out that in the past only Coaldale and Tamaqua of Schuylkill County were covered in the chapter's annual Thanksgiving Week appeal.

The relatively new chapter has collected $17,337 since 1958, reaching a high a year ago with a total of $6,752.19. The chapter raised $4,138 in 1958 even before it became incorporated in the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, an organization born out of the grief and determination to do something by a group of parents with dystrophic children.

It was granted a charter in the association in 1959 and responded effectively with a $6,626.94 collection. Funds are accrued through door-to-door solicitation, canister collections and commerce and industry donations.

Patience Service

One fourth or $4,335 of the total amount collected over the three-year period has been used by the chapter in conducting an extensive patient service program.

The Rev. Harold Engle of Lehigh, the chapter's patient service program chairman, says the program provides treatment, both clinical and in the home, for its patients which now number 19 in the three counties. The program also supplies specially-built devices such as wheel chairs, lifts, and orthopedic shoes to mention a few.

MDAA itself utilizes funds from the annual campaigns to conduct an intensive research program all over the world but primarily in a new multi-million dollar institute for muscle disease.

The 11-story center is located a mile north of the United Nations building on the banks of the East River in New York City where the $5 million laboratory complex was built two years ago with funds contributed by the public in the fight against muscular dystrophy, a tragically disabling ailment whose chief victims are young children.

It has been estimated that one out of every 800 Americans suffer from muscular dystrophy and that its incidence is world-wide.

The menace of this dread specter hangs over the wheel chairs and beds of 155,000 American children, progressively wasting their muscles and gradually draining away life itself.

In children, this disease is almost invariably fatal. Neither its cause nor the cure are known to medical science at the present time.

All is in readiness for the 1961 campaign, which officially was launched last week with the distribution of canisters throughout the three-county area.

Actually, the main surge will not be conducted until Thanksgiving Week when an estimated 1,800 volunteers will canvas 31 communities in the three counties. Atty. John P. Lavelle of Weissport is coordinating the campaign as general drive chairman.

Airport Expansion Approved

POCONO Mountain Airport Authority approved R. LeRoy Dengler's recommendation for a $500,000 expansion program at its meeting Tuesday night.

The recommendation is a two-step program and when completed it will put the airport in position to qualify under Federal Aviation Agency rules for airline service.

The first step is to extend the existing 4,000 foot runway to 5,400 feet.

The second step would extend the runway to 6,400 feet, erect an $80,000 terminal building, do extensive grading and erect a series of hangars for planes stationed at the airport.

The cost of the program will come from a local, state and federal level.

Local contributions would amount to approximately one quarter of the figure, state the remaining half while the federal government would match the half put up by local and state governments.

Hiring Good Teachers Top Priority

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the Fourth in a series of articles on National Education Week. They were written by East Stroudsburg Joint School Teachers. Today's article, "Time To Salute Good Teachers," was written by Mrs. Althea Reid, a student teacher. It was condensed from the National Education Association's "Your Schools.")

HIGHEST priority in solving the problems of American education is the recruiting, educating and retaining of qualified teachers. The problem is not wholly economic.

While the economic status of the teacher must be improved, there must also be improvements in the environment of learning.

This can be accomplished if teachers have fewer pupils, fewer class hours, improved teaching facilities, and increased prestige and recognition in the eyes of the public. A blanket indictment of the profession as a whole based on isolated cases of poor teaching and poor teacher preparation is unfair and damaging to prestige.

Because more is expected of the teacher than imparting knowledge and skills, the qualifications are very exacting.

The teacher is expected to join the home, the church and other social institutions in promoting physical and mental health among his pupils, increasing their appreciation of moral and spiritual values, recognizing and developing their talents, and encouraging self-confidence and independent thinking.

Most Important
The most important characteristic of a good teacher is a liking for children and youth and the ability to inspire them. Next in importance is knowledge of the subject field in which he teaches. This should not be too highly specialized but should include knowledge and appreciation of the sciences, the arts, history and literature.

The excellent teacher has wide acquaintance with the study of human growth and the psychology of learning. He should have enthusiasm to create new possibilities for his pupils. He is informed regarding teaching methods and materials and the resources for learning in the school and community. He needs a bachelor's degree or its equivalent with special preparation in his field.

Public Service
The successful teacher has the conviction that teaching is a public service, a high calling which brings the satisfaction of helping boys and girls. Such a teacher will seek a school where he can devote sufficient time to each pupil. In an elementary school this means classes of twenty-five pupils or less, and in a secondary school a teaching day of no more than five class periods.

To attract and retain outstanding teachers the community, school administration and the school board must provide teachers with opportunities for professional growth, the same personal and political freedom which other citizens enjoy, and a share in school policy making.

Imaginative teaching demands the freedom to be creative. Teachers should be given the opportunity to try new methods learned during professional preparation and to broaden their knowledge and experience.

To maintain a staff of high quality, salaries must be satisfactory. The beginning salary must be large enough to attract, and the rate of advancement fast enough to retain able people.

An adequate starting salary is one which is reasonably competitive with those of other professional occupations. It should be the average of beginning salaries in occupations for which a college degree is required.

Comparable To Others
Salary advancements should be such that at each stage a teacher's earnings compare favorably with those of other occupations that require equivalent preparation and experience. This should assure the satisfactory teacher at least double his salary in ten years. Otherwise teachers will seek better paying teaching positions or positions outside education.

A community which gives public recognition to the importance of its schools will have favorable teaching conditions and good teachers. This dignity is the incentive for the lengthy preparations and continuous self-improvement required for the teaching profession.

Legion Post Commander Takes Over Duties Tonight

NEWFOUNDLAND — William Rubrecht, newly-installed commander of Phillips-Zacharias-Phillips Post 859, American Legion, will preside at tonight's meeting of the post at the legion hall, as a new year gets underway for the local legionnaires.

Cmdr. Rubrecht was installed at a banquet at The Lancaster, South Sterling, by D. Reines Skier, Hawley attorney, and commander of the Fifteenth District, American Legion, Charles Miller, of Hawley, adjutant of the district and past department vice commander; and Dennis Loring, deputy commander of the 5th district in charge of Wayne County.

Also installed during the ceremonies were Claude Butler, immediate past commander and new first vice commander; Carlyle Schmalz, second vice commander; Allen Cross, adjutant; C. Allen Edwards, finance officer; Willard Newcomer, historian; Aaron Smith, sergeant-at-arms and Clarence Bennett, chaplain.

The installation of the auxiliary officers was held jointly with the post, with Mrs. George Wyckoff, director of the Wayne-Pike County Council, officiating.

The new officers will be seated tonight at the postponed November session at the legion home. They are Mrs. Robert Rochford, president; Thelma Peet, first vice president; Allen Robbins, second vice president; Doris Bartleson, treasurer; Lillian Hinton, corresponding secretary; Clara Bennett, chaplain; Ruth Cunningham, historian; and Helen Feigel, sergeant-at-arms.

Public Assistance Rolls In County Up In Month

Record Harrisburg Bureau HARRISBURG—The number of Monroe County residents applying for public assistance during September went on the upswing, the State Department of Public Welfare said today.

A total of 68 applications were received from Monroe County during the month—an upswing of nine as compared with the preceding month's 59 applications.

The number of counties actually on relief rolls also showed an increase during the month, climbing from 811 to 869. (The 869 relievers, according to the department, represent 2.2 percent of the county population and compares with a statewide average of 3.7 percent.)

410 Persons
The Monroe County relief load comprises 410 persons receiving aid to dependent children assistance, 87 receiving aid to dependent children assistance under the temporary expansion of the ADC program, 200 receiving old age assistance, 57 general assistance, 53 blind persons and 62 aid to disabled assistance.

Of the 68 applications for public assistance received from county residents during September, 38 were for aid to dependent children assistance, 16 for general assistance, four for aid to disabled assistance, one for a blind pension and nine applications for old age assistance.

Bangor '62 Class Play Nov. 10-11

BANGOR — The Class of 1962 of Bangor High School will present its annual Senior Play, "If Mother Only Knew," Nov. 10 and 11 in The Bangor High School Auditorium. Advisor to the play is Mrs. Margaret Rockwell. Student director is Judi Share.

If Mother Only Knew is a three act comedy by Donald Payton. It's the story of a typical American family and the ridiculous situations that a misunderstanding can lead to.

Playing the irrepressible teenagers are: Carole Albert, as Connie, Barbara Adams as Betty Lou, and Louis DeLorenzo as Wilbur Maxwell. Len Carrescia plays Dr. Gooch, a victim of circumstances. Barry Sleep and Ann Hallett portray Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell who are celebrating their twentieth wedding anniversary. Tom Ciccarelli is "Brains" Burke, Connie's boyfriend, who hopes to become a lawyer and whose nimble brains save The Maxwells from catastrophe.

Others in the play are Wilma Miller, as Aunt Mary, Margie Hamm, as the other Dr. Gooch, Judy Schultz, as Bernadine, John Tinsley as Hercules Nelson, Wilbur's friend, pal, and cohort in time of need, and Michal Tieff as Badge Burns.

The public is invited to attend the evening performances which will start at 8:00 p.m. Admission is fifty cents. Tickets may be bought at the door.

Cetnar To Speak At Parley

WILLIAM Cetnar, minister of Jehovah's Witnesses and associated with the Brodheadsville congregation, has been assigned as one of the speakers at the group's convention at Bethlehem.

The assembly is expected to draw 1,500 delegates from 17 congregations. Sessions will be held at the Broughal School building Friday, Nov. 10 and continuing through Sunday.

Cetnar was a member of the headquarters staff of the Watchtower Bible & Tract Society, Brooklyn, N. Y., and at present oversees the ministry school at the Brodheadsville congregation.

He will speak on "Publicly Proclaim God's Will," which is scheduled for the Saturday afternoon program.

Commenting on this assignment he said, "Today most people hesitate to discuss their faith publicly, but Jehovah's Witnesses maintain that if a religion is worth believing it is worth practicing."

He further stated, "It is not only the privilege but the obligation of every Christian to carry out the command of Jesus to publicly proclaim God's name and purposes."

The highlight of Saturday's program will be the talk on "Dedication and Baptism."

The climax of the assembly will be a public address, "Uniting Men in a Split-Up World," Sunday at 3 p.m. Both talks will be delivered by Joseph Sais, district supervisor.

All sessions are open to the public.

Choir's Ages 72 To 93

BARRETT — A choir ranging in age from 72 to 93 is rehearsing at the Methodist Home for the Aged at Belmont and Monument Aves., Philadelphia.

It is one of the activities offered guests of the home, which is headed by Rev. V. Harry Banes, field secretary and chaplain of the home.

Banes spoke Thursday at the covered dish luncheon of the Canadensis Methodist Church, at which members of the WSCS were hostesses for Mt. Pocono and Mountaintop groups.

Rev. John O'Neill gave the invocation. Mrs. O'Neill led the singing with Mrs. John Carter at the piano.

Though waves move across the surface of a lake or sea, the water itself merely rises and falls. A given volume of water sinks back into almost the same place.

Education Week's Climax At South Wayne Friday

NEWFOUNDLAND — A climax in the observation of Education Week at Southern Wayne Joint School will be reached on Friday, Nov. 10, with a special assembly at 2:15 p.m. in the school auditorium, and a penny dinner, open house and band concert during the evening.

The assembly program will feature the Rev. Larry T. Lindemuth, Moravian pastor, as speaker, and members of Phillips-Zacharias-Phillips Post 859, American Legion, its auxiliary, and a colorguard from the Tobyhanna Signal Depot, will participate. This will be a combined observance of Education Week and Veterans Day. School will be dismissed at 3 p.m., following the assembly, which is open to the public.

Science Fair Unit To Meet

THE MONROE County Science Fair Assn. will meet at The Daily Record office, 511 Lenox St., Stroudsburg, next Thursday, Nov. 6, at 8 p.m.

ANDROS Island, largest member of the Bahamas chain, is the home of the legendary "Chick-charnies," tiny red-eyed, tree-dwelling elves, trouble-making cousins of the modern gremlin.

Cleaning-Up Is Important

By George Abraham

THE FALL CLEANUP: One way to fight next year's crop of bugs and plant diseases is to clean up the garden now and remove plant refuse which is harboring overwintering beetles, eggs, worms and disease spores. Pulling, burying, burning or composting these dead plants is one good way to discourage a build-up of insect and disease pests in 1962.

Much of this debris should be burned, especially diseased peony tops, cabbage with clubroot, corn with borers, and zinnias with alternaria. These items composted would only be a reservoir for infection next year.

Apple scab has been serious this year, and the fungus survives in fallen leaves. The fungus causing the dreaded black spot of roses lives thru winter in the same way. Brown rot of peaches and cherries, and black rot of grapes overwinter on rotted fruit and fruit mummies.

Bacteria and fungi which cause many diseases of annuals and perennials winter over in the debris, as do the spores of early blight and septoria blight of tomatoes.

All of these problems can be prevented easier in 1962 if you cut or pull tops in fall and rake the leaves. Leaving the growing plants in the garden or border after harvest encourages pest build-up.

It's also a good idea to control weeds in and around the garden, because many pests board with weeds alone.

EVERGREENS AGAIN: If we could predict how much snow we'll get, we could tell you how much winterkilling of shrubs and evergreens to expect. The more snow, the less winter injury, because snow is a perfect mulch, keeping water in the soil and preventing freezing and thawing.

Evergreens suffer when hot dry winds start the plants into activity. This draws moisture from the leaves and the result is dieback, or "evergreen disappointment," noticeable the following spring. Placing shields of burlap or windbreaks cut down winds and protects both broadleaved and narrowleaved evergreens.

Spraying with plastic or rubber base "anti-desiccants" on the market. You mix these with water and spray the evergreens on a sunny day. This slows down the "breathing" of leaves, seals in moisture.

Regardless of whether you spray or build a windbreak, you should still water evergreens well in fall and apply a mulch of sawdust or peat, or similar material.

BRING OUTDOORS INDOORS: Indoors should not be drab if you don't want it to be. One of the best ways to bring the freshness of the outdoors inside is to make yourself a terrarium out of a goldfish bowl, brandy snifter, an aquarium or any glass vase.

The first thing you do is sprinkle some wood's earth in the bottom, plus a few bits of charcoal to keep the soil sweet. Go out in the woods or meadow and collect small ferns, mosses, tiny moss-coated pieces of wood, partridge berry, wintergreen plants or anything you think will look well inside the glass container.

In placing the moss on the woodsearth, don't forget that you must see it through the glass.

White sand or a piece of broken mirror creates the illusion of a tiny lake in your terrarium. Pieces of rock can be added to suggest cliffs or steps. Terrariums and "bottle" gardens must have water added from time to time or the plants will dry out. Perhaps once a week is ample.

A glass plate on top keeps moisture inside and watering should be reduced. Ventilation is needed periodically, otherwise moisture will collect on the inside and visibility will be to a minimum.

FREE: Want to know more about "Glass Gardens" and "Bottle Gardens"? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for a copy of our bulletin, "How To Make A Terrarium." There's still time to make one for the winter days ahead.

DAHLIAS FOR WINTER: Remove excess soil from mites tubers, trim off any injured or diseased parts, dust the cut surface with sulfur or captan, and let the clumps dry upside down for a while, then store your tubers in perforated plastic bags, boxes or flats.

Pour damp (not soaking wet) peatmoss, vermiculite, sawdust or perlite over and around the tubers and store at a temperature of 40 to 50 degs. Check the toes from time to time and any that are rotted should be discarded. A certain amount of shriveling can be expected, but any which shrivel badly can be packed with a little more peat or sawdust dampened beforehand.

Question Box

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: E.D. Stroudsburg: "I've had a Passion flower for 3 years but cannot get it to bloom. Please give me some tips on raising the plant. Do you think it's worth growing?"

Yes, the Passion vine is a tropical beauty well worth the effort to grow indoors, once you understand its habits. First, it's interesting to note that Passiflora is the Latin name for "Passion flower," in allusion to the flowers suggesting the Crucifixion.

This exotic item is a fast grower, and those of you who left yours on the porch or outdoors all summer are wondering what needs to be done to care for the long vines now. I'd grow the plants in a 8 or 10 inch pot, using a porous, well-drained soil.

Passiflora caerulea is the most commonly grown species, having blue, rose and green flowers. P. incarnata has purplish or pinkish blooms and there's even a red passion flower on the market from Bolivia. If yours is exceptionally long, I'd cut it back about half the size and train it to bamboo stakes.

Wires or strings up around the window casing helps the passionflower climb with its tendrils. This support is an absolute necessity for growth, and growth is dependent upon the support you give it.

Time of blooming varies with this plant. If you start plants from cuttings in late summer you'll have flowers during the winter and spring months indoors. Plants started from seeds flower when 6 months of age.

You can even start seeds indoors now, let them grow all winter, and set them outdoors in April or May. Indoors, the plants need a uniform supply of moisture, never suffering from a lack of water. Keep in a room of 65 to 70 degs. and feed a liquid plant food every 3 or 4 weeks.

J.M. of Wind Gap: "From time to time our willow tree has clusters of insects on the branches. Please tell me what can be done. Trees have millions of them. Will winter kill them?"

No, winter will not kill the aphids and European Willow beetle which your tree probably has. Most of these pests overwinter under bark and they'll be back next year to haunt you. They can be killed by spraying with malathion, and by following instructions in my bulletin, "How To Fight Pests of Willows."

Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope for your copy so you'll be ready to make your weeping willow laugh at bugs next spring. My leaflet also tells what to do for willow leaves which had black spots on them, and it also tells you how to fight galls, weevils and borers on the willow tree.

Teeners Reply, 'I'd Rather Be Me'

By Eugene Gilbert
President, Gilbert Youth
Research Co.

WE HAD A lot of fun going among you and asking some lighthearted questions that were admittedly very "iffy."

But at the same time, the answers gave us significant insights into how you feel about certain people and things.

How would you answer this question:

"If you had a choice of being any animal you wanted which one would you choose?"

"A dog," said a fourth of the thousand teen-agers we questioned across the nation. The second choice was a human being and the third a bird.

In this survey we did not offer any lists of names, places or animals. The various choices were made by the young people who answered the questions.

There's no question that President Kennedy ranks high in the esteem of teeners. To our question about who they would like to be if they could be anyone on earth, 13 percent of the boys said President Kennedy. And even the girls picked him, with 1.3 percent making him first choice. The majority, however, seemed pretty satisfied with themselves and things as they are. Forty-six percent said that they would be themselves, even if they could change by magic.

Many names popped up.

Among the boys, these included spaceman Alan Shepard, athlete Mickey Mantle and Babe Ruth, New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, but none was mentioned nearly as often as President Kennedy.

The President's wife, Jacqueline, apparently is an idol of the girls. Again, while nearly half the girls said they would rather remain as they are, the first choice for an identity change was Mrs. Kennedy. Nearly 4 percent named the First Lady. Then, in order, came Elizabeth Taylor, Debbie Reynolds, Marilyn Monroe. But more girls said they'd rather be President Kennedy, than either Marilyn Monroe or Debbie Reynolds.

Those boys who picked President Kennedy spoke of him in terms of greatness. Their comments were typified by Richard Herzog, 16, of New York, who explained his choice by saying simply, "He is a great man."

Linda Adelman, 16, of Philadelphia, seemed to cover the ground on why she'd like to be Jacqueline Kennedy by noting, "Position, money, looks, brains, fashion sense, personality and John F. Kennedy."

Most teeners are willing to settle with their own parents as ideal parents, but we asked them who they would pick if they could name any two people as their parents. The first family ranked first, with 15 percent naming Mrs. Kennedy as mother, and 14 percent picking the President as father.

There were some fairly off-beat combinations.

Brigitte Bardot (for "social standing") and UN Ambassador

Adlai Stevenson (for "intelligence") said Michael Stein, 16, of Boston.

Lucille Ball ("warm understanding") and Dr. Jonas Salk ("great contribution to humanity") said Libby Brand, 19, of Camden, N. J.

Eleanor Roosevelt ("she's a great person") and Bob Hope ("he's done a lot for America") said Kathy Martin, 17, of Lawton, Okla.

Questions Asked

1. If you had your choice of being anyone on earth, who would you be?

2. If you had a choice of being any animal you wanted to be, which one would you choose?

3. If you had the chance to pick two famous people for your parents, who would you choose?

Health Chief Asks Greater Effort On TB

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief of the U.S. Public Health Service's tuberculosis program called yesterday for greater nationwide efforts to eliminate tuberculosis as a major public health problem.

Dr. Edward T. Blomquist cited statistics showing that 56,494 new active cases of TB were reported in this country in 1960, a rate of almost 31 per 100,000 population.

"Although this represents a five per cent decline in rates from 1959, the drop is below that considered necessary to eliminate the disease as a major public health problem," Blomquist said.

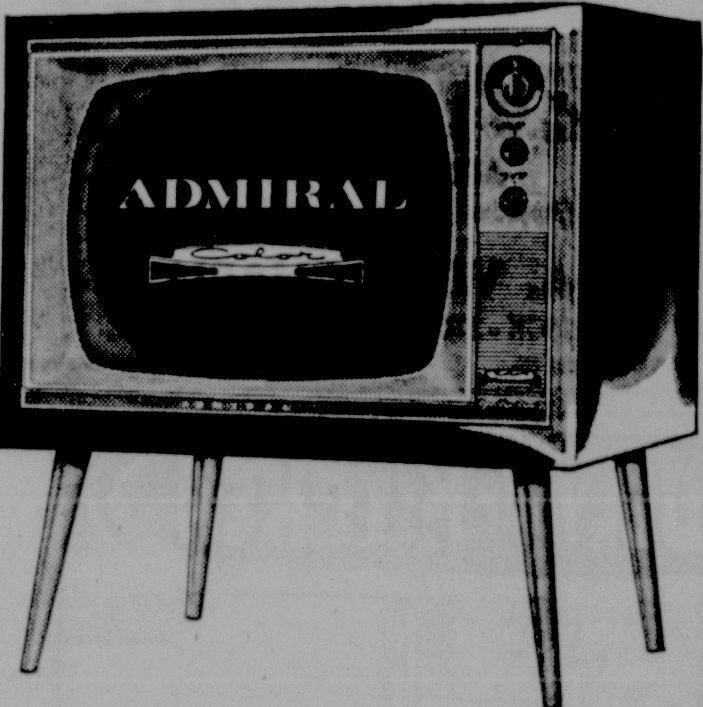

He added in a statement: "With the combination of drugs that are potentially 90 per cent effective in treating people with newly discovered tuberculosis and with the protection offered to their families by isoniazid prophylaxis, we do not feel that an annual 10 per cent decline in new case rate is an unrealistic goal."

Blomquist said the nation pays over $700 million each year as the direct cost of TB. He added that until the case rate can be reduced to the point where special control programs are no longer necessary, no sharp drop in costs is anticipated.

'Snifers' Take Training Course

HULL, England (AP)—Four men bent over and solemnly smelled each box of fish landed by this port's fleet of trawlers yesterday. When it comes to assessing the freshness of fish, it has been decided, automation is out—the nose knows best.

"We smell fish," said team leader Roy Spencer, "which range from the very fresh to stinking."

"The sniffers you see in action will train for three months. At the end of that time we hope that all will agree what a fish smells like when it is fresh, and what it smells like when it has passed its prime," he said.

The four sniffers are on the staff of the Humber Laboratory of the government's Department of Scientific and Industrial Research.

They are charged with seeing that no fish sets off from dockside to retail market if it is going to stink up the joint on arrival.

The Home Of The Week

Patio Brings Outdoors Into This Home

By Jules Loh

A dramatic interior garden surrounded on all four sides by glass brings the crisp outdoors right inside this versatile four-bedroom ranch home in winter or summer, spring or fall.

"This is a patio in the true sense of the word," said architect Samuel Paul, who designed House of the Week B-91.

"The Spanish word 'patio' is used to describe an open courtyard, such as this one—and if you're familiar with the knack Latins have for easy living, it isn't hard to see why a patio is characteristic of their architecture."

The interior garden is only one of three fine patios in this home, including a luxurious 22 feet 4 inches by 19 feet 6 inches private terrace off the master bedroom.

Moreover, all these outdoor facilities, usually reserved for homes in the far-out suburbs where lots are large, are available in this house which would fit comfortably on a "city" lot as narrow as 50 feet wide. This is because of the front-to-back planning of the house, rather than the customary side-to-side design. The house contains 2,105 square feet in overall dimensions of 50 feet wide and 65 feet deep including the double car port.

Access to the interior garden is through sliding glass doors in the family room; but sharing its freshness and charm are the living room, the informal family room-breakfast area, and the spacious entry which will be bathed in daylight all day long. The sleeping area (which is well zoned for privacy, incidentally) has two large bedrooms, one with a double lavatory and the other, adjoining the master bedroom, with a broad, L-shaped vanity.

A third lavatory is located off the laundry and convenient to the family room-kitchen area. Note the excellent step-saving design of the large kitchen, and its good location between the formal and informal entertaining areas.

Additional Details

While this is a large house with room enough for a family of as many as seven or eight, architect Paul provides an expansion plan so that a couple could start with a two-bedroom, 1,406 square foot basic house and add on from there.

The first stage would include the two front bedrooms and one bath in the sleeping wing; and the breakfast room, family room, kitchen and part of the living room. In the condensed version, however, the breakfast and family rooms would be the living and dining rooms; and the area to the left of the kitchen would be the family room. Paul's blueprints show how the two other bedrooms and bath, and the extension of the living area could be added later.

Another feature which would be dictated by the desire of the builder would be the design of the front bedroom next to the entrance. Simply by arranging the doors and walls as you want them, the room can be a den, nursery, guest room or library; the dressing room could be eliminated in favor of a walk-in closet or any other innovation.

Luxury touches abound in this lovely house, not the least of which is vertically jointed brick

LATIN LUXURY—An interior garden—or patio, in the true sense of the word—is only one of three dramatic terrace areas in this luxurious ranch. The front terrace is entered from the master bedroom, and has wall in the living room intercepted by a contemporary fireplace with a copper hood. The brick wall carries over to the entrance, which is further accented with a quarry tile floor.

Another luxury feature is the front terrace, or more specifically, the master bedroom terrace. Imagine stepping out there on warm spring morning to read the Sunday paper while the dew is still on the grass. Garden walls above eye level guarantee the privacy of the terrace.

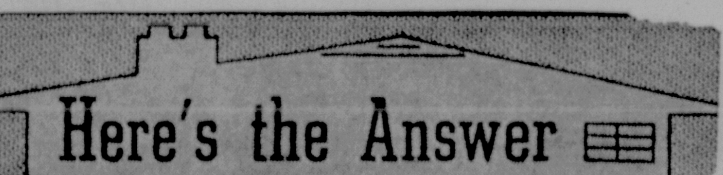

There are 12 closets in this house, all oversized, and these are in addition to four large storage bins in the carport. More storage is available in the basement is built, the space occupied by the stair well would become a heater room.

B-91 Statistics

One story home with or without basement, has 10 rooms including four bedrooms, 2½ baths in 2,105 square feet and dimensions of 50 feet wide and 65 feet deep including double carport. House has interior garden, front terrace and rear patio. Carport adds 495 square feet.

Architect's blueprints include suggested expansion house of 1,406 square feet containing two bedrooms, 1½ baths. Remainder could be built in stages.

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: The hardwood floor in our dining room was waxed a couple of years ago and hasn't been done since. We'd like to redo it. Can you tell us how to clean off the old wax, which has turned slightly yellow, and what kind of wax to use to get the best result?

ANSWER: The fact that the old waxed turned yellow indicates that it may have been one of the synthetic resin waxes, which are fine for vinyl and most types of resilient flooring but not recommended for wood. To remove the old wax, get a wax remover from your hardware dealer, explaining to him that it's for a wooden floor.

In getting a new wax to redo the floor, be sure to select one of the good quality buffing waxes rather than the self-polishing type. Most self-polishing waxes have a water base—and water tends to cause the surface grain of wood to rise and swell. The self-polishing waxes are excellent for vinyl, asphalt tile and linoleum. The buffing waxes are better for wood and cork. These waxes are known as solvent waxes.

(Questions of general interest will be answered in this column. However, individual correspondence can not be undertaken.)

Painting Siding

HERE'S the way to paint wood siding. On vertical siding, first paint the grooves between the boards and then do the face, being sure that you are applying a quality house paint. For horizontal siding, first do the bottoms of each board and then the face. Use a 4-inch brush and flow the paint on liberally with a full brush following the grain. Be sure to brush the paint out well but not too thinly.

Lever Faucets

AUTOMATIC control is only a finger's touch away with the new single lever lavatory fitting. A light touch controls water flow and temperature, from hot to cold, from a gentle flow to full force. You can even adjust flow and temperature with your arm or elbow when your hands are full or heavily soiled says the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau.

Woodwork First

WHICH do you paint first, the walls or the woodwork? Not all experts agree on the sequence, but common sense suggests that you start with the woodwork if you are using latex paint on the walls. The reason is simple: it is easier to remove wet splatter or misses of latex from a dried enamel of the type that is recommended for woodwork than it is to remove enamel from latex.

Advertise In The Daily Record

high garden walls for privacy. The main entrance adjoins the carport. The house contains 10 rooms with four bedrooms in 2,105 square feet.

FLOOR PLAN—Interior garden is surrounded by four glass walls and entered through sliding doors from family room. Service entrance is through breakfast room adjoining kitchen. If basement were not built, furnace room would occupy stair well space. Note abundance of large closets, especially storage bins in carport.

Care And Repair

A smoothly functioning plumbing system is a protection to health and adds to the convenience of modern living. Tips on the care of the household plumbing system are offered in a booklet "Plumbing Care and Repair" published by the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Ill. The booklet was written with the object of helping owners of homes as well as renters to keep their plumbing systems in good operating condition. Price of the booklet is 10 cents a copy.

Exterior Hardboard

If you're planning to use hardboard for any type of exterior construction, be sure that you buy only tempered board which must then be painted if it is to last. First apply a coat of quality house paint primer, being sure to seal all edges as well as the flat surfaces. When the primer has dried, use whatever quality exterior paint you desire, house paint for general use and exterior trim paints or enamel where bright colors or high gloss is desired. You'll find that the job goes quicker if you use a roller for the top coat or coats.

Trainboard Is Easy To Build

IF THERE is a junior railroad man in your family this trainboard will be a welcome piece of equipment. Besides providing an attractive play area and storage unit, it takes the "fuss and muss" out of America's most popular hobby, railroading.

Every red-blooded railroader, regardless of age, or equipment in operation, finds this trainboard an ideal place to run a railroad. The pattern offered below simplifies building a four foot x eight foot or a 5 feet x eight feet trainboard storage wall. It tells what materials to buy, where each is used and how to assemble the project with hand tools. Complete step-by-step directions and assembly illustrations explain how to build this project using inexpensive building board that not only provides a firm base for track, but also insulates same against noise.

The beauty of this trainboard lies in the fact that all scenery, hills, tunnels, houses, signal towers, can be fastened in position. Roads and fields can be painted color desired, sprinkled with artificial grass, sand or gravel and never come in contact with rugs or other floor covering.

When playtime is over the locomotive and cars are placed on board tipped up into position and securely closed. The underside of the cabinet becomes a handy bulletin board or blackboard. Send 50c in coin, check or money order for Trainboard Storage Wall Pattern No. 190 to The Daily Record, P. O. Box 215, Pleasantville, New York. Send 35c additional for new catalog illustrating over 300 build-it-yourself projects.

LaBar Is Re-elected In Bangor

BANGOR — Mayor Quintus LaBar was re-elected to office over David Stoddard, Republican by 56 votes Tuesday at general election.

However, Republicans claimed all other major offices in the borough.

In the councilmanic election, the Republicans won five out of the six contested seats.

Elwood Parsons, Republican,

Staples, Thrice Potent Master, who recently received the Thirty-Third Degree at Chicago; Elwood F. Doll, Captain of the Guard; John R. Lesoine, Second Lieutenant Commander and Robert J. Rockefeller, Thirty-Third Degree, Honorary Member of the Supreme Council.

In other local elections, Isiah was the only candidate of the Republican party to lose his bid for election over Rex Erdman, Democratic incumbent in Bangor's First Ward. Parsons lost by nine votes.

In the second Ward, Republican Gilmore Strunk and Merlin Tucker defeated Charles Wise and Claude Fisher, Democrats.

In the Third Ward, Miles Heller, Republican defeated Clarence Beagle, Democrat.

In the Fourth Ward, Republican John Cascioli and Troy Reigel defeated Patsy DeMario and Joseph Powlette, Democrats. Powlette was running for reelection.

This gives the Republicans a nine to three control of the Bangor borough Council for the first time in 16 years.

In the school board election, W. John Heard, and Charles E. Williams, Republicans, were unopposed having been nominated on both tickets.

Their election gave Bangor Republicans control of the Bangor school board by a majority of 6 to 1.

In other local elections, Isiah

resh, Republican, defeated Lester Houck in his bid for reelection for tax collector.

Victories were also claimed by the GOP Raymond Traves, as Justice of the Peace over Paul Theumplier, Democrat, and Willis Gardner, Republican, defeated Adam Snyder, Democrat for the office of auditor.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Post-election analysis of how and why and what-if dominated a lot of the conversation yesterday, but you didn't give me much time to listen, let alone get a word in. Just let me take my mind off social events for election night and there you are planning all sorts of suppers and dances and trips and things.

I still haven't figured out how I qualified to do a story on banking. The usual excuse for making something "social" is the oft-repeated response, "Well, you ate, didn't you?" but in this case, I didn't. However, it was social in a much more pleasant sense in that it gave me a chance to visit some of my favorite people in their (by now) native habitat.

And I did pick up a good story on Claude Cramer. His new desk is a miracle to behold with everything at his fingertips. Which was just the trouble. Waste paper baskets are essential but not especially decorative and often in the way — so this desk has sort of a letter slot arrangement in the top which you can slip papers through to the concealed basket beneath. And the first time he used it, it also caught his hand and for awhile it looked as if the new bank would have one officer permanently chained to his desk.

I love the looks, the convenience and the comfort of modern inventions, but they sort of awe me too, so it made the bank seem much more cozy and human to discover a man-trapping desk. Now there's a woman's angle I could have included.

Joe Flory told me they'd debated about that elevator, but now that they have it, it's proved it's worth in gold. A bank elevator in the Stroudsburg really makes us seem metropolitan. Surprisingly, enough, with Jim Shafer's help, I could count up enough elevators in the towns to tick off ten fingers. Can you?

The Baby's Named!

THE DAILY RECORD congratulates the parents and introduces to its readers the following new babies:

James Howard Barnes

James Howard Barnes, second son of Franklin and Mary Lou (Loomis) Barnes, of Stroudsburg RD 1, arrived at Hahnemann Hospital, Scranton, on November 3. His elder brother is David Allen, two years old. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Barnes, of Sterling. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Loomis, LaAnna.

Scott William Rowe

Their third son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Rowe of Delaware, N.J., on Nov. 4 at the General Hospital. He weighed 8 pounds 23 ounces and has been named Scott William. His brothers are Dennis Wayne, 3½, and Gary Leigh, 2. Mrs. Rowe is the former Carol Ann Kohlhaase, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Kohlhaase of Delaware, N.J. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Rowe of Blairstown, RD.

Patricia Marie Riley

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Riley of Sootrun announce the birth of a daughter, Patricia Marie, on Nov. 4 at the General Hospital. She weighed 7 pounds 3¼ ounces. They have two older children, John Edward, 3½, and Kathleen Joan, 2. Mrs. Riley is the former Phyllis Kane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kane of Bartonsville. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James J. Riley Sr. of Sootrun.

East Stroudsburg Bank Has Features Women (And Men) Are Certain To Like

Traditionally, a reporter assigned to cover "the woman's angle" on the formal opening of a new building such as the East Stroudsburg National Bank will write about the "taste" of its lines, color scheme, and interior decoration effects, and about the comfort and convenience for the customer.

However, "taste" is not the prerogative of either sex, and men don't like to scootch across a car seat to reach an inaccessible "drive-in" window any more than a woman.

Both men and women have been following the long progress of the transformation of the three-story building at the corner of Washington and South Courtland Sts. in East Stroudsburg not only with keen interest but with critical judgments, pro and con, most vocally expressed.

The exterior changes have not been ones which could be easily overlooked from what at first appeared to be a Times Square sized billboard on the South Courtland St. side to what might be termed the Taj Mahal of all parking lots on the Washington St. side. And at night the back-lighted letters "ESNB" on the facade have made a focal point for every driver waiting at the stop light.

Early speculation that perhaps animated cartoons, Broadway style, might be the purpose of the great rectangular panel on the blank side of the building have been dispelled. The large gridded screen serves to tie the building into an architectural whole, hiding the monotonously placed windows beneath. It also has the practical purpose of filtering the light pleasantly for the interior and cutting off the heat of the late afternoon sun.

The Chinese pagoda effect of the cantilevered bent wood arches that frame the entrance to the parking lot, besides catching the startled attention of even the most blasé passer-by, also has a very practical purpose. The front arch, supporting the canopy over the sidewalk, is counterbalanced by the soaring interior arch which focuses the brilliant floodlights on the parking lot itself and eliminates the need for obstructing posts to serve the same purpose.

Curving stone walls repeat the lines of the supports and provide construction surfaces, still further heightened by the plantings which they hold. Circular cement screening walls hide the adjoining buildings.

Of particular interest to women, perhaps, is the fact that the 19 parking spaces inside are so arranged as to give plenty of backing space and fender room. However, men as well as women will appreciate the "drive-in" window, placed sensibly enough so that it's on the driver's side of the car.

A mechanical desk which extends until it practically rests on the depositor's lap, adds to the convenience.

However, since presumably, the visitor wants to see the interior this time, he will park. From that angle, the side of the bank seems to be made of brick.

Sisterhood Projects In Full Swing

Many of the projects of the Sisterhood of the Temple Israel are now in full swing and were reported upon at the meeting held Tuesday night in the vestry rooms with Mrs. Henry Reader presiding.

A card party and spaghetti dinner, one of the package deal events, will be held this Sunday night at 7 p.m.

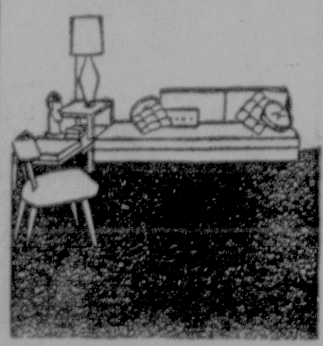

The Picture Album project is now in progress and members were asked to call Mrs. Max Beran for appointments. Also in progress is the candy sale for Chanukah. The chairmen, Mrs. Arthur Jolley and Mrs. Benton Silver, will call members for their orders.

The gift shop is also open for Chanukah gifts. Members may call Mrs. Harry Heller for religious items and Mrs. Allen Ginsberg for paper, gifts and boutique items.

There was a large attendance at the meeting with Mrs. Elizabeth Kane, Monroe County librarian, as guest speaker, reviewing the book, "Mila 18".

Hostesses were Mrs. David Shulman, Mrs. Lester Levy, Mrs. Jerome Jacobs and Mrs. Seymour Schantz.

Stroud Mansion Open House Set By Juniors

Open house will be held at the historic Stroud Mansion House on Sunday, Nov. 19 from 3 to 5 to permit the public to inspect the renovations which have been made to the club rooms. It was announced at the meeting of the Junior Woman's Club on Tuesday night at the Mansion House.

This was the first time many of the members had seen the changes and they congratulated the project chairmen, Mrs. Lawrence Levy and Mrs. Joseph McCluskey, for the fine job of renovating the kitchen.

The public is invited to the open house, during which the Historical Society rooms will also be open.

The program also concerned itself with re-decorating. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Grace showed and narrated slides on "New Rooms for Old," stressing the use of fabric in changing appearance of rooms without making structural changes.

During the business meeting, the club endorsed Mrs. H. Everett Sanford for president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Woman's Clubs.

Mrs. Carl Yetter urged all members to have their papst smear tests for cancer made and to turn in their cards by the December meeting.

The club project for the month is the square dance to be held at the American Legion Home on Friday night from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Gary Keller, HA 1-7911.

Dale Lockard In Hospital

Dale Lockard, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lockard of 325 South Courtland St., suffered a broken leg when a radiator fell on it and is now a patient in traction at the General Hospital.

He will be in the hospital for six to eight weeks and is anxious to hear from his friends. He is in the second grade at the Campus laboratory school.

New School Organizing New PTA

Swiftwater — The first steps in organizing a Pocono Mountains Jointure Parent-Teachers Assn. were taken on Monday night at the meeting held at the school in Swiftwater.

Named to the nominating committee were: Mrs. Ann Ruehlman, Mrs. Pauline Frailey, Earl Williams, Mrs. Janice Moeller, Mrs. Gerald Hanna, Mrs. Olive Davis, Mrs. Margaret Nieson and Clair Witt.

The committee to draw up by-laws will include Richard Post, Mabel Hoffman and Walter Melnikoff.

The hospitality committee is Mrs. Shirley Curtis, Mrs. Blanche Starnes, Mrs. Virginia Buck and Robert Lane.

The reports of the committees will be presented at a meeting called for Monday, Dec. 4, at 8 in the school auditorium. All parents and teachers are asked to attend.

Roll Call For WCTU Friday

The annual roll call of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held on Friday afternoon at 2:30 at the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

Winners in the recent junior high essay contest will be present to read their essays. The public is invited.

Garden Club Plans Trip To Christmas Party

The Monroe County Garden Club's chartered bus trip to the Christmas party in Philadelphia sponsored by the Pennsylvania Federation of Garden Clubs will be held on Monday, leaving at 7:30 from Eighth and Main Sts. in Stroudsburg.

The theme of the party this year is "Christmas in the Air" with the program beginning at 10:30 a. m. in the auditorium at Strawbridge and Clothier.

Mrs. Frances W. Sheehan, arranger from Longwood Gardens will present the theme using season ideas for home decorations. "Deck the Halls" will be illustrated in the displays in the auditorium and "Joy to the World" in sketches interpreting the spirit of Christmas.

"On Christmas Day" will be illustrated by informal holiday table decorations. In charge will be outstanding arrangers from the eastern Pennsylvania area.

There will also be a Christmas bazaar featuring unusual Christmas decorations by the Garden Club of the Federation.

There are still some seats available in the bus and those wishing to go may call Mrs. Ernest Schwartz or Mrs. Edgar Van Why.

New Pastor Welcomed At Supper

The Wyckoff Shopper

"The friendly store"

A.B. Wyckoff

STROUDSBURG, PA.

I was down in the cosmetic department the other afternoon when Arlene Vaughn walked through the store. You couldn't miss her. Most of our customers were coming in, wearing dripping raincoats and carrying soggy umbrellas . . . but Arlene was looking particularly sunny, thanks to ankle-length pants and a yellow and white cardigan.

"Isn't she working today?" the girls nearby wanted to know, and I said she was, for I'd seen her earlier in the Sportswear department wearing a short, full skirt of gray with matching gray knee socks. Later, when I was back upstairs, I noticed her in Sportswear still wearing the yellow coordinates.

"Are you modeling or buying?" I asked, and she said she was just trying some brand new merchandise. The sleek-fitting pants woven of stretch yarns, are very comfortable, she told me. With them she was wearing pixieish red Sassy Shoes which we sell in Sportswear for only 2.98. Further checking revealed that both pants and cardigan bear the famous Bobbie Brooks label, and sell for 12.98 each piece.

Speaking of Sassy Shoes, I must say I've never seen anything much sassier than the Muk Luks for men being sold at 5.98 in our Men's Shop. They're shaggier than the proverbial shaggy dog, and, as the way with all these woolly slippers, will give a man the look of having a substantial foundation whether or not he actually does. Put two of 'em side by side on the living room floor come Christmas, and your casual callers will think you've acquired a new bearskin rug.

As I've been telling you on the air each morning, Wyckoff's is having a field day with brand new merchandise right now, and this will continue right up until Christmas. In our center aisle there's a rainbow shipment of Red Wing Pottery, and when I enthuse about it you must believe it's lovely, for I'm really not a pottery fancier. This selection is a most attractive one—the pottery is not too heavy to be graceful as is so often the case, and the colors are delicious: Orchid, Coral, Yellow, Green, Pink and White. Prices begin at 1.00, and the most expensive piece I saw was 4.98. My favorites in this line are low, leaf shaped dishes, ideal as a centerpiece for the table, at 3.98, and a planter that's a reproduction of an old pot-bellied stove, at 2.98.

New in the same department are rather tall cats of the Siamese type with raised flowers atop their heads and across their chests. Each is 5.00. At 1.98 there are pottery kittens with a bell suspended from their necks. Nearly you will see the Clustered Grape bottles we described in an earlier column, shown next to sparkling, heavy ash trays in the same colors. Hannah Shupp tells me we've sold a lot of these bottles, and that many persons who plan to use them on a table are also buying the matching ash tray. It's a really glittering idea!

Then, since we've already mentioned Christmas, let's pursue the subject a bit further with the happy discovery that our Gift Department sells a wide variety of attractive tin boxes ideal for mailing holiday goodies. Prices range from 20 to 50c and some have a very Christmasy design while others have a needlepoint or floral motif.

Another impressive box, fully packed and ready to go either to your table or into the mail, may be found in our Candy department priced at 3.95. The finish is oxidized silver and the cover has an old Dutch scene in bold relief. Inside there is a tempting assortment of Patria biscuits from Holland. Our Delft-type tin boxes filled with a smaller selection of these. Patria biscuits has long been a best-seller at 1.00, and this larger box would be a popular gift item.

It is now 4 o'clock, and I've typed so much about food I'm starving. Guess I'll go down to our Candy department and buy a box of the new Cheezettes by Weston "made with better Cheddar." They're a delicious snack, perfect with coke, ginger ale or—well, what will YOU have?

Football Helmets Will Be Different

NEXT YEAR'S football player may look like a man from Mars but he may be the safest athlete ever to play the sport.

The face guard on the helmet will probably be brought in closer to the face, to prevent it from being used as a handle for tacklers, there will be a rubber strip at the rear of the helmet and another thicker piece in a triangular shape extending downward from the rear of the helmet. And some of the helmets will have six-inch strips of foam rubber across the top of the hat.

Some schools also plan to use a sponge rubber ring around their players' necks, to cut down on neck jarring. Penn State uses nylon stockings filled with sponge rubber for the same purpose this year but only in practice.

Not all of these changes will be on all helmets next year, but there will definitely be some changes.

The reason for the switches is that the plastic helmet in its present form, is not suitable for the type of football played today. The head, which coaches formerly believed shoulder be protected when blocking and tackling, now plays an important role in some coaches' systems.

At Michigan State, fullback George Salmes, who was the Associated Press' back of the week after the Notre Dame, uses his helmet to smack opposition ends in the neck.

Aims For Adam's Apple

"When I block an end," says Salmes, "I aim my head right at his Adam's Apple. It really shocks them when I hit them."

Salmes' approach to the game may be perfectly legal but if he is going to crash into ends with a plastic helmet that is as hard as metal, something has to give. That's where the rubber strip on the top of the hat comes in.

The rubber will not only soften the blow for the opponent but will cushion the shock for the wearer. Although, the rubber will help the opponent more than the wearer.

One of the schools that has used the rubber strip helmet for several years, may drop it, because it doesn't have enough "cutting space."

Cutting space plays an important role in a lovely little item known as the Texas tackle. When a ball carrier is being held by one tackler, the second tackler bangs into the carrier, usually in the rib area with his helmet.

Since this type of tackling is becoming the vogue, especially in major college football, the coach who used rubber strip helmets felt he was being cheated out of precious helmet space.

Gregory Shuns Texas Tackles

East Stroudsburg State College tried the rubber strip helmets in its game against Cortland and plans to order a full set next year. Warrior coach Jack Gregory doesn't believe in Texas tackles. In fact Gregory says, "When I have to resort to that to win games, I'll quit."

The rubber on the rear of the helmet, will cushion the shock when the head is forced back and the triangle shaped piece of rubber will prevent the head from being forced back too far. The triangle will strike the back and force the head back to normal position.

Of course, next year's helmets will be much heavier than present models and won't be as attractive but they'll be a lot lighter and a lot more attractive than the scars of this year's football brain injury victims.

No Chance For Win Says Realist Coach Stulgaitis

STROUD Union High School football coach Jerry Stulgaitis is a realist. He has no illusions about his team beating Northampton Saturday.

"Northampton is going to beat us," says Stulgaitis, "and they are going to beat us badly."

Stulgaitis isn't committing or selling his club short.

Stulgaitis isn't committing treason or selling his club short, he is only facing facts. Northampton has won almost 60 straight Lehigh Valley League games and in its last three games, has averaged more than 50 points a game.

Stroud Union has lost to several of the teams that Northampton has clubbed by 50 or so points. And to make things worse, Mountie quarterback Warren Loney may not be able to play Saturday at Northampton. Loney bruised his left shoulder against Slatington last week.

Arm In Sling

Stulgaitis is not certain if Loney will be ready. The quarterback's left arm is still in a sling. Stulgaitis will not use Loney unless the arm is completely recovered and there is no chance for reinjury.

If Loney is out, the quarterbacking duties will go to freshman John Muller, who quarterbacked the junior varsity. The Mounties second unit quarterback Glenn Bisbing was lost for the season several weeks ago with a torn muscle in his right shoulder.

Muller has been in on only one offensive play with the varsity this season. Halfback Henry Ray is also being groomed for the quarterback slot.

Condition Work

Stulgaitis is more concerned about his players getting

Patterson Camp Set Up Quarters

NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Gus D'Amato and publicist Sam Taub will leave Tuesday for Toronto to set up training quarters for heat-weight champion Floyd Patterson. The champion fights Tom McNeely Jr. of Boston in Toronto, Dec. 4.

Taub said Patterson will train at Palace Pier, overlooking Lake Ontario, and will be quartered at the new Woodbine Race Track.

No Snipe Racing

LONDON (AP) — The International Yacht Racing Union rejected a bid by Japan that would have included snipe class yachts in the 1964 Olympic games in Tokyo.

Warren Spahn 2nd

Ford Named Top Pitcher; Receives Cy Young Award

BOSTON (AP) — Whitey Ford, the first American League pitcher in a dozen years to win 25 games, was named winner of the 1961 Cy Young Award Wednesday as the major leagues' outstanding pitcher.

Ford received nine votes from a committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves, who brought his lifetime victories to 309 last season, received six votes in second place. Spahn was the 1957 winner.

Detroit's Frank Lary was third with two votes. Lary compiled a 23-9 slate for the Tigers.

Nicklaus Will Turn Pro; Says He Needs The Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, generally regarded as golf's foremost amateur since Bobby Jones, announced Wednesday he is turning professional.

The two-time national amateur champion (1959 and 1961) said at a news conference in his home that "I wrote my letter to Joe Dey (of the U.S. Golf Association) yesterday."

The 21-year-old Ohio State University student said:

"I've made my decision to turn pro, but I have no commitments at this time. Due to several sources of income available to me at the professional level, it would be unfair to my family not to accept. I hope to start my pro career where I ended as an amateur."

That would be at the top.

Besides his two U.S. amateur triumphs, he has set an all-time amateur record in the National Open (282 strokes in 1960), just two behind winner Arnold Palmer) and has been a dominant figure in international competition.

Nicklaus is married and his wife recently bore him a son.

One writer from the 18 major league cities failed to vote.

Big Thrill

"It's a big thrill," Ford said at his home in Lake Success, N.Y. "When Bob Turley won the award several years ago I wondered whether I'd ever be lucky enough to get it. It sure was worth waiting for."

Ford, a left-hander, had a 25-4 record while helping the Yankees to the American League pennant. He added two World Series triumphs as New York beat Cincinnati in the post-season classic, though his World Series performance did not count in the consideration.

The last American Leaguer to hit the 25 games won mark was Mel Parnell, who had a 25-7 record for the Boston Red Sox in 1949.

Vern Law of Pittsburgh won the award last year.

Wash. State End Building Catch Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Hugh Campbell, Washington State's pass-catching end, is threatening a runaway in defense of his title as the top receiver in major college football.

Statistics from the NCAA Service Bureau Wednesday show Campbell—who set five national records last year as a sophomore—with 42 receptions and 562 yards gained in seven games.

Runner-up to Campbell is Bill Miller of Miami (Fla.), who has grabbed 26 psses in seven games. Oscar Donahue of San Jose State also has caught 26, but in eight games — one more than Miller.

Score Battle

In other individual major college races, Pete Pedro of West Texas State and Preacher Pilot of New Mexico State are battling for the scoring title and Pedro currently leads with 102 points to 96 for Pilot; Jay Wilkinson of Duke, son of Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson, is the punt return leader with 264 yards on 14 returns; Dick Mooney of Idaho has the most yardage of kickoff returns, 365 on 19; and Maryland's Tom Brown leads in intercepting passes with six.

Tor Drops Decision

MANILA (AP) — Sington Por Tor of Thailand lost a 10-round decision to Marcel Juban of the Philippines Wednesday night. Juban weighed 113½ pounds, Sington 115.

Kist Fears Eagles Even After 54-0 Kids Defeat

JUST which was Nazareth will go after its 54-0 loss to Northampton last week, will be decided Saturday at East Stroudsburg Memorial Stadium.

Golf Scores Are Business For Everett

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Life is just a row of names and figures for Ken Everett, official PGA scorer.

He travels 300 days out of the year and keeps a giant scoreboard that tells golfers how they're doing. He posts 20,000 letters and numerals in a four-day tournament. He has been at it for seven years, traveling 45,000 to 50,000 miles a year.

A soft-spoken man from Lafayette, Calif., Everett likes his work except that it gets mighty monotonous after about seven months on the road. He always longs for Nov. 5, the start of a 65-day vacation.

No Errors

The 54-year-old Everett makes well-nigh perfect figures and letters and has yet to make an error in posting the pros' scores.

He uses a system of fours and 36 for nine holes to do his counting. He can give you a man's score by just glancing at the line.

Somebody asked him for his funniest experiences. He said, "Well, no experience ever was funny at the time. It just isn't funny to have all your score cards washed away when it has taken 10 hours to put them up."

He lost a full set of score cards at Hot Springs, Ark., in wind and rain. He had to work until 3 a.m. to replace them. At Inverness, Toledo, in 1957 when Dick Mayer won the National Open, Everett spent 10 hours putting up the scoreboards only to have the wind and rain wipe them out. He put them up again the next day, catching up just as the second round ended.

At New Orleans he once lost all the score boards from the elements, then lost half of them that he had gotten up for the second round. The third day he lost five sheets.

Everett works an average of 10 hours a day seven days a week. He figures it like this: he drives 12 hours to tournaments and works 60 hours — that's a 72-hour week.

He certainly works for his 65-day vacation.

East Stroudsburg's Cavaliers will take on the Blue Eagles, who will either roar back from a beating or continue in the losing way.

Nazareth is not as bad a ball club as it showed against Northampton. In fact, the Eagles were unbeaten for the first five games this year. So it will be more than likely that Nazareth will fight back against East Stroudsburg.

Ends League Card

The game ends the Lehigh-Northampton League season for East Stroudsburg, which is still trying to overtake league leader Pen Argyl. The Cavaliers must beat the Eagles to stay in the running.

Cavalier coach Jack Kist is worried about 190 halfback Bob Freeman, who has shown that he is one of the best backs in the league.

Freeman is the club's leading ground gainer and scorer and the fastest player on the team. He returned a kick-off 83 yards for a touchdown against Pen Argyl.

And Kist also feels that Nazareth will be out to avenge the 7-7 tie the Eagles and Cavaliers played last year.

Normally a tie is not something to avenge but last year Nazareth was unbeaten and had just knocked off Northampton, when the Cavaliers pulled the surprise tie. And to make things worse, East Stroudsburg gained the tie with two of its backfield starters out of the line-up.

The Cavaliers will still not have halfback Brian (Flying) Farris Saturday. Farris sprained his ankle in the Hellerstown game. He has been attending practice this week but the ankle is not strong enough for him to play.

Schloredt May Quit Football

VANCOUVER (AP) — Quarterback Bob Schloredt, hero of two Rose Bowl games, said Monday he is considering quitting football for dentistry.

He made the comment following the end of the 16-game Western Football Conference schedule, during which he spent most of his first year in professional football as a defensive back with the British Columbia Lions.

Schloredt, former University of Washington All-American, said he has no complaint against the Lions and added that he has a contract signed for next season. But the plans to spend the next few months debating whether future security will be found best in dentistry or pro football.

Texas' Saxton Is Back Of Week

By LEE JONES

AUTIN, Tex. (AP) — James Saxton came to the University of Texas in 1958 as a scrawny freshman thinking he'd never see action in a football game.

Wednesday, the flashy speedster was named back of the week by The Associated Press and is considered a contender for All-America honors.

"I never thought I'd play a down of football in college," the 165-pound tailback, said. As a high school senior, Saxton's highest playing weight was about 145. "I thought I was too light for college football. But Coach (Darrell) Royal told me, 'James, we'll give you a chance to prove yourself,'" Saxton recounted.

He played football every year at Palestine High School, although he weighed only 115 pounds his first season.

Davis Mentioned

Other backfielders mentioned in the back of the week poll were Jerry Stoval, Louisiana State; Sandy Stephens and Bill Monsey, Minnesota; Dick Shiner, Maryland; Enie Davis, Syracuse; Ed die Wilson, Arizona; Bob Ferguson, Ohio State; Bobby Smith, UCLA; Butch Blume, Rice; Mel Renfro, Oregon; Ray Farris, North Carolina; and Bill Whitley, The Citadel.

Saxton, a 21-year-old senior said he'll play pro ball next year only if he can sign with a Texas team. All three Texas professional clubs have shown some interest.

Last Saturday against Southern Methodist Saxton made a 79-yard touchdown run in the Cotton Bowl.

The spindly-legged back has gained 535 yards on the ground in 62 carries for an average of 8.6 yards.

He has set the all-time Longhorn rushing record and now leads all conference backs in rushing.

"I think a person is just naturally fast. You can't develop speed," he said.

Unitas had struggled through the first half of the season with a bruised middle finger on his passing hand.

Moves Up

Unitas' performance Sunday lifted him from sixth to fourth among the league's passers, according to figures released Wednesday by NFL headquarters. He now trails Sonny Jurgensen of Philadelphia's Eastern Conference pacesetters; Bart Starr of Green Bay and Milt Plum of Cleveland.

Cleveland's Jimmy Brown, meanwhile, moved ahead of Green Bay's Jim Taylor as the No. 1 ground gainer in rushing. Brown, the league rushing champion the past four years, has picked up 720 yards on 171 carries and Taylor 711 yards on 123.

Paul Hornung of Green Bay, scheduled for Army induction after Sunday's game with Chicago, added nine points to his total in the scoring battle with the Colts and now has 111-3 more than Baltimore's Lenny Moore.

End Jim Phillips of Los Angeles continued to lead the pass receivers with 40 for 677 yards followed by Tommy McDonald of Philadelphia with 40 for 628 yards.

Hard, Ramirez In Net Semis

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., United States women's tennis champion, and Yola Ramirez of Mexico played a powerful doubles game Wednesday to defeat Mary Reitano and Mary Hawton, third-seeded Australian pair, in the women's doubles quarter-finals of the Queensland championship.

The scores were 6-2, 6-2. In men's doubles semifinals, Ken Fletcher and John Newcombe of Australia upset the Wimbledon doubles finalist, Fred Stolle and Bob Hewitt, 9-7, 6-4, 3-6, 4-6, 6-4, Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson, top Australian pair, needed nearly three hours to eliminate Rod Laver and Jim Shepherd 14-6, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Lord Fury To Enter Laurel

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Lord Fury, who led from start to finish to win the 2-mile Melbourne Cup at Flemington race course Tuesday, will be invited to the United States next year for the $100,000 Washington International at Laurel, Md.

The Melbourne newspaper, The Age, quotes James Shannon, who represents the Laurel club in Australia, as saying invitations will be issued to the owners of Lord Fury and Dhaulagiri, who carried topweight of 131 pounds in Tuesday's race and ran third.

Tight Race For 1st Spot As Season Nears Finish

THE DAILY Record Guess-Perts head into the next to last week of selections with three members of the board of guessers still in contention for this year's title.

Sports Editor Curt Prins leads the parade with a 721 average and a two-game bulge over second place Tony Cesare, City Editor Bob Clark, last year's champ, is in third place, five games behind.

Clark had the best mark last week. He picked 19 winners in 25 games, with one tie. Cesare and Prins each had 17 winners. Don Allen, who is in last place had 16 winners. Allen is 17 games behind.

Varied Selections

The local selections are varied this week, with two area clubs picked to win and three to lose. East Stroudsburg is the choice in its game with Nazareth Saturday afternoon at Memorial Stadium and Pen Argyl is picked to whip Parkland. Both the Cavaliers and Green Knights are 4-0 choices.

Stroud Union did not get a vote in its game with Northampton but Bangor was picked by Allen to upset Hellerstown. Allen also picked Pius to whip Port Jervis.

On the national scene, it is a week with only a few "tough" games. But the last time there was an easy week, it caused the season's biggest upset production.

Clark could move into second place this week, as he and Cesare differ on more than two games. But Clark and Prins differ on only three games and since Prins has Clark by five games, the sports editor's position is safe.

Cesare and Prins have different views on two games so if the right combination of wins and losses is produced there could be a tie for first.

Snead, Johnson Mexican Choices

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and defending champion Howie Johnson of Cog Hill, Ill., were installed Wednesday as co-favorites in the 17th Mexican National Open Golf Tournament, starting Thursday.

The 72-hole tournament will be played over the Mexico Golf Club course for $10,000 in prize money. It ends Sunday.

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — College football teams are like a yo-yo—up and down—and the trick is to guess when one is hitting the bottom of the string. Minnesota, up last week, should suffer a letdown and Iowa, after two losses, should be on the rebound.
Pitt is always up for Notre Dame and Michigan State probably will be in the doldrums against Purdue. That's the way it goes—but not always, as last week when the score was 3-16 for 709.
Iowa 18, Minnesota 10: Coach Murray Warmath is whistling past the graveyard when he says his Gophers are still high for this one.
Purdue 22, Michigan State 14: It's going to be tough to get much fight out of the Spartans this week.
Pitt Picked
Pittsburgh 21, Notre Dame 8: Jim Traficant tosses more vinegar into the Fighting Irish's open wounds.

Navy 17, Duke 14: Greg Math-er's errorless field goal kicking may cook the Blue Devils' oyster in the Oster Bowl.
Texas 31, Baylor 7: The Long-horns have been averaging 31-plus a game, and they're busting new buttons as the nation's No. 1.
Ohio State 28, Indiana 0: If Iowa can't stop the great Bob Ferguson, what makes the Hoosiers think they can?

Colorado 27, Utah 6: The Buf-fales already are sniffing Mi-ami's brange blossoms.
Georgia Tech 19, Tennessee 7: Tech's Bobby Dodd returns to the scene of his undergraduate tri-umphs—in triumph.
LSU Is Choice
Louisiana State 14, North Caro-lina 7: The Tarheels are high af-ter beating Tennessee, but the Ti-ger still is feasting on raw mat.
have to undergo surgery.
But Monday the 6-foot-7 giant said his elbow has apparently re-sponded to cortisone injections and that doctors have decided he will not need an operation.
Back To Basics
TROY, N.Y. (AP) — "It's back to the fundamentals for us this week," said Coach Ed Hoffman, whose Rensselaer Polytechnic football team lost its 17th con-secutive game Saturday.

Sirola To Play In Cup Matches

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP)—Orlan-do Sirola, a key member of Italy's Davis Cup tennis team, said Monday he will be able to play against Australia in the challenge round next month.
Sirola's right elbow has been bothering him for months. After Italy beat the United States in the Davis Cup Interzone Final last month, doctors said he might

England's Best

LONDON (AP)—Terry Downes, British middleweight boxer who snared the world title, and An-gela Mortimer, Wimbledon wom-en's lawn tennis champion, Tues-day were named Britain's sports-man and sport woman of the year. They were picked in a poll by Britain's sports writers.

Pocono Names Basketball Coaches

HARRY Werkheiser has been named head coach and Adolph "Bud" Caprioli assistant coach of the basketball team at the new Pocono Mountain Joint High School.
"Caprioli will also handle the junior varsity squad.

Harry Werkheiser

Werkheiser, a graduate of Pocono Twp. High School and East Stroudsburg State College, previously coached Pocono Twp. High, Tan-nersville, for many years in basketball and baseball. During World War II, Werkheiser spent three years in the Marines.

He is the present head of the physical education department at the Swiftwater School.
Caprioli is also an East Stroudsburg State College graduate and did post-graduate work at the University of Scranton. He attended Barrett High School.

Coached Little Stags
Caprioli spent two years as junior varsity coach at Southern Wayne High School, Newfound-land. His teams lost only three games in the two years. Caprioli is a member of the Eng-lish department at Pocono.
Pocono will open a 20-game schedule Dec. 5 at Southern Wayne. Pocono will play every area team except Pen Argyi and will also play several Scranton schools.

The Scranton schools are West Scranton, Scranton Prep and Dunmore. There will be two games with Mauch Chunk Twp. (Nesquehoning), East Stroudsburg, Plus X and Pleas-ant Valley.
Pocono will not play in a league this year and will be listed as a Class B school in the PIAA.
The club, although not in a league, could gain the PIAA play-offs by winning more than three-fourths of the games against Class B teams.

PRESTIGE!

High Income Families Show Unbridled Enthusiasm for Newspapers

Nearly everyone in town reads a daily newspaper. Among the heaviest readers, according to a survey by the Psychological Corporation, are upper social-economic urban families. Another study by the U. S. Department of Agriculture found middle and high income groups were heavier newspaper readers than low income groups. This survey showed 73% of the low income group said they had read the newspaper, while the score increased to 88% for middle income groups and 95% for high income groups. No matter what service or product you sell, no matter what income group you want to reach, you reach more people through the daily newspaper.

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Daily Record does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 8, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 8, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 602 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, Pa. 18084. Philadelphia Office: 19 North Street, Philadelphia, Pa. 19103.

'Puts And Calls'

By William A. Doyle
Q. Can I gauge the expected price of a stock from the prices of "puts and calls" I see advertised?

For example, if I buy a call option (at a cost to me of $300) on 100 shares of XYZ Corp. stock at $118 per share, would that mean I expect XYZ to be quoted above $121 a share sometime between now and Dec. 15?

Or, if I buy a put option (at a cost to me of $200) on 100 shares of UVW Co. stock "at 28 for March 22," would that mean I expect UVW to be quoted below $26 a share on or before March 22?

A. That's the idea. But, instead of saying what you "expect" the price of the stock involved to be, say what you "hope" the price will be.

Puts and calls are simply option contracts which guarantee the right to buy or sell a fixed number of shares of a certain stock at a specified price, within a specified time.

If you buy that call option on XYZ, the broker who writes the call option contract guarantees to sell to you 100 shares of XYZ, at $118 a share, anytime between now and Dec. 15. Because you have already paid $300, this figures out to a cost of $3 for the call option on each share. If you exercise your call option, your total cost will be $121 a share.

So, XYZ's market price will have to climb above $121 a share for you to make money. If the market price of XYZ does go above $121 a share, you exercise your option, buy the stock and sell it at the higher market price. The difference between $121 a share and the price you receive is your profit.

If you buy that put option on UVW stock, the broker who writes the put option contract guarantees to buy from you 100 shares of UVW, at $28 a share, anytime between now and March 22.

Because you have already paid $200, this figures out to a cost of $2 for the call option on each share.

If the market price of the stock falls below $26 a share, you can buy 100 shares in the open market and the broker who wrote the contract will have to buy those 100 shares from you, at $28 a share. In order to make a profit, you have to buy the stock at less than $26 a share. Otherwise, the cost of the put option will eat up your profit.

Q. I recently bought two $1,000 U. S. Treasury coupon bonds through a big brokerage house. I was charged a few dollars per bond more than what I know was the current market price for these bonds. Isn't this some kind of a holdup?

A. No. Marketable U. S. Treasury bonds and many other bonds are normally traded in "round lots" of $10,000. You see, most trading in such bonds is normally done between big investors such as banks and other institutions—even though the bonds are issued in smaller denominations.

So, when relatively small amounts (small to bond traders, that is) are traded, the buyers usually have to pay a small "premium" price over the going market price.

And a seller of a relatively small amount of bonds can expect to get a bit less than the going market price.
